ULSTER PREMIER TO GIVE REPORT ON HIS MISSION

Irish Events Wait on Sir James' Statement to Northern Parliament Today—British Cabinet Also to Issue Report on Negotiations—Course of Sinn Fein Unknown.

HOME SECRETARY STILL HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF TROUBLE

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Robert C. Barton, of the Irish peace delegation, returned from Dublin this morning, but Michael Collins, Desmond Fitzgerald, and other delegates will remain in Ireland until after Sir James Craig, the Ulster leader, presents the case of Northern Ireland to the Ulster parliament on Tuesday, and the Cabinet has issued its promised statement in London.

Whether the Sinn Fein will issue a statement simultaneously, or will reply to Ulster, has not yet been decided. It is expected that they may await events until Thursday, the earliest day it is believed possible for renewal of conversations between them and Premier Lloyd George on the question of allegiance.

The impression of those in touch with Dublin is that no immediate renewal of hostilities is apprehended. At Sinn Fein headquarters in London the expectation is that the mission will still be here at the end of the week.

According to advices from Belfast this evening, Sir James Craig's statement will not touch upon what has passed between Mr. Lloyd George and the Sinn Fein representatives, including the latter's withholding of consent to take the oath of allegiance to the Crown.

Mr. Lloyd George will return from Chequers Court tomorrow, it was said, to arrange affairs for whatever course the Irish negotiations take, and to prepare to go to Washington should conditions shape themselves favorably or the negotiators agree to a postponement of the conference, which would enable him to leave England at the present time.

PRINCESS LOUISE FINEST STEAMER

British Columbia's Splendid Addition to Fleet Reaches Home Port of Canadian Pacific Coastwise Vessels

The Princess Louise, pride of the shipbuilding industry of British Columbia, built by the Wallace firm for the Canadian Pacific coastal fleet, was brought down from North Vancouver and placed in drydock at Esquimalt by her builders yesterday. Today she will be scrubbed and painted, and in a day or so will run her speed trials. The exact date of her cruise over the measured mile had not been settled last night.

Builders and owners alike were delighted with the behavior of the vessel on route from Vancouver yesterday. She came down at an easy speed, trying out the engines, and against an adverse tide and strong head wind, acted in a manner that gave general satisfaction. Captain James Slater was on the bridge, and Chief Engineer Petticrew in charge below. Aboard was Andrew Wallace, head of the firm's builders, and Capt. J. W. Troup, manager of the B.C. Coast Service, together with a party of other Canadian Pacific officials.

Fleet of Fleet
Captain Troup was obviously very well pleased with her performance. "She gives promise," he said on arrival here, "of living up to every expectation. This afternoon she behaved in a very satisfactory way. For a single-screw vessel she handled remarkably well, coming around in less time than either the Alice or the Adelaide can do. That is owing to the design of the hull."

"I believe the traveling public will be thoroughly pleased with her, she is a great credit to the Wallace firm. People here are going to be surprised at this ship. They don't realize that a vessel like that could be built on this coast. But she's very much more of a ship than any of them," he said, referring to the rest of the steamers of the coastal fleet, the best of them built by British yards in previous days.

Mr. Wallace was equally well satisfied with the way the Louise came down from Vancouver.

Like Ocean Liner
In the drydock last night she presented a very brilliant appearance, a gleaming mass of light against the darkness. The multiplicity and variety of lighting effects are, in fact, one of the features of the ship. In general design of the interior she is something akin to the Alice and Adelaide; that is to say, the public rooms, smoking, observation and the like, are located in relatively the same position. With the Louise, however, there is a sense of space, of freedom from cramped quarters that the other ships have not. There is something in her wide passages, her broad social hall and spacious light and airy wells, of the suggestion of the ocean liner about her in comparison with the usual coast steamer.

Another improvement in the Louise that will win appreciation is the provision of plenty of room between the main deck and the awning deck. Owners of big and handsome limousines should find present themselves to the Louise with demands to be carried to the island, will meet no

Lord Londonderry's View
BELFAST, Nov. 28.—The Marquis of Londonderry, Minister of Education in the North of Ireland Cabinet, tonight told a loyalist meeting at Newtownards, County Down, that he believed the assurance that Ulster never would consent to be coerced capable of forcibly being proved. He added that he was certain Ulster could view the future with calmness, if not at the moment with complete satisfaction.

"We want a settlement for all time," the Marquis declared, "but we do not feel that a leap in the dark is consistent with our character or likely to achieve peace and prosperity."

Home Secretary Hopes
LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Home Secretary, Edward Shortt, speaking at Liverpool on Tuesday night on Irish affairs, said: "We are in as delicate a position regarding Ireland as was ever known. I, perhaps, am more sanguine than others in believing that we could produce a set of arrangements which would settle once and for all the centuries-old trouble and the retention of the island as a part of the British Empire."

Clash Near Ennis
ENNIS, Ireland, Nov. 28.—A serious clash occurred Sunday between auxiliaries and civilians at Corofin. One civilian was seriously wounded and several others were slightly hurt. The trouble arose over the attempted removal of ammunition from the barracks of the auxiliaries, near to which the casualties occurred.

Canadian Pacific Earnings
MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—Canadian Pacific Railway earnings for the month of October, 1921, were $22,085,624; expenses, $16,378,137; net, $5,707,487; decrease in net, $999,325; decrease in gross, $2,711,068.

Supposed Suicide
REGINA, Sask., Nov. 28.—A body, identified as that of Joseph Turner, farmer in the Biggar district, was found in a shallow creek near Biggar, Sask., by the Provincial Police today. It is believed he committed suicide. His brains were blown out. An investigation is being held.

STORM DAMAGE IN NEW ENGLAND

Sleet and Snow Work Havoc With Wire Communications—Two Deaths in Rhode Island Reported

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—A storm of sleet and snow that reached its height early today and then turned to rain, caused heavy damage across central New England.

BRITANNIA COMPANY HELD RESPONSIBLE

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 28.—At the close of the inquest today, responsibility for the flood which wiped out the town of Britannia Beach several weeks ago, and caused the death of thirty-six persons, is placed on the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company, which operates copper mines at Britannia.

The inquest into the deaths of William Loran and others on October 28 last at Britannia, has lasted nearly a month. The coroner's jury visited the scene of the disaster, and heard many witnesses there and in Vancouver.

The verdict reads, in part: "The disaster was caused by what is known as the railroad fill, or dump, giving way, and we, the jury, declare that it was criminal negligence on the part of the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company, Limited, under the general management of E. J. Donohue and K. B. Bowering, respectively general superintendent and mining engineer for the said company, for deliberately allowing the blocking of a natural drainage channel by the Britannia Creek, causing a menace to the persons living at Britannia Beach."

WILL WITHDRAW POSTAL SYSTEMS

Powers Represented in Conference Reach Agreement Regarding China—Later Must Provide Efficient System

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Taking its first direct action toward the liberation of China from foreign influence, the arms conference agreed today on the withdrawal of foreign post offices and postal systems from China.

The decision was conditioned only on the maintenance by China of efficient postal facilities, including retention of the present domestic organization by which a French co-director-general acts as adviser to the Chinese postal authorities.

January 1, 1923, virtually was agreed upon as the date of withdrawal of the Japanese with the holding approval of the point pending consultation with Tokyo. Constituting the first comprehensive action on the principle that "the United States will not support any arrangement which threatens the integrity of the 'four big powers' of Mr. Elihu Root, the postal agreement is expected to be followed tomorrow by the delegates today in committee of the whole. This section refers to the introduction of contraband into Chinese territory through the foreign mail, and gives the Chinese customs authorities the right to search mail they may suspect.

The search clause was understood to have been inserted after the Chinese had charged that large quantities of opium were being carried through China in the foreign post, in contravention of the anti-opium law. The retention of the Chinese customs authorities the right to search mail they may suspect.

NATIONAL LIBERAL AND CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION

To the Electors of Victoria

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ON PAGE 15 OF LAST NIGHT'S TIMES

1. Mr. Bennett, like all other sensible Liberals throughout Canada, has discovered that the sanest statesman in Canada today is the Honorable Arthur Meighen, and has joined his forces to make Canada a sane and possible place to live in.
2. Mr. Bennett was relying on information supplied by the Liberals, which he since has learned is incorrect.
3. Mr. Tolmie has never refused to give the fullest information to intelligent people, either on the floor of the House or elsewhere.
4. If the writer of this "ad" knows that the money for the completion of the C.N.R. terminals was in the bank, he knows more than any other man in Canada.
5. Dr. Tolmie has an announcement to make on this point, and will deliver it at the opportune moment.
6. The outer docks were built by the Government to accommodate the Merchant Marine—specifically to help this city. Have the citizens of Victoria (individually or collectively) made any definite proposition to the Government to utilize this commodity placed at its door?

A vote for Ivel is a vote for WHAT?

Dr. Tolmie will address the voters of Ward One, in Sample's Hall, Victoria West, this evening at 8 o'clock. Every-body welcome.

BRITAIN HOPES FOR PROGRESS

Government Issues Statement Declaring That Much Has Been Achieved by Conference on Armaments

APPEARS TO CARRY HINTS FOR FRANCE

Premier Anxious to Go to Washington, But Must Wait for Week's Developments in Irish Affairs

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The following authorized statement is issued by the British government:

"Apprehensions expressed in various directions concerning the proceedings at the Washington conference are not shared in authoritative quarters. While the possibility of difference of opinion arising, and temporary setbacks being experienced, is never lost sight of, yet the British view is one of real satisfaction and great hope, for on the naval question alone more has been done than most people believe. But apart from naval disarmament, the most important element attached to this country to the restoration of world peace, which cannot be effected merely in this way."

"There is great anxiety regarding the moral atmosphere of the world, and it is pointed out that one cannot isolate a hemisphere or distinguish between naval and other armaments. It is felt that the recovery of the world and the restoration of financial stability must depend upon the treatment of armament questions as a world-wide issue."

"So far as Great Britain is concerned, she wants to employ her unemployed and pay her debts, and she is gravely disquieted by any scheme which threatens insincerity and unrest, whether in Europe or elsewhere."

"The British Government is determined to answer the United States summons in every direction in the general purpose of ridding the world of the menace of a new war."

"The statement adds that 'his being the Premier's view, his desire to go to Washington is stronger than ever, but until a week a fateful period in Irish history, is passed, it is impossible to say whether he will leave England.'"

INQUIRES ABOUT CANTEN FUNDS

Major Power, of Quebec South, Submits Questions to Secretary Macneil Concerning Disposal—Answer Returned

QUEBEC, Nov. 28.—Major Charles G. Power, Liberal member for Quebec South riding in the late parliament, has sent the following questionnaire to G. Macneil, Dominion Secretary of the C. W. V. A. at Ottawa:

"1. Is it true that the C. W. V. A. has received $50,000 from the Canadian Government and the promise of $100,000 more, to be paid before the election?"

"2. Are these sums of money taken from the canten funds or the interest thereon?"

"3. Are not these canten funds the property of all the service men who have done?"

CONFERENCE NEARS IMPORTANT ACTION ON NAVY STRENGTH

HOLD-UP PARTICIPANT BETRAYS HIMSELF

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 28.—Mistaking for detective two fellow-travelers on a Michigan Central train arriving here today, John Petkewicz, 17, confessed to them that he had participated in the $25,000 payroll hold-up outside the A. G. Walton & Company shoe factory at Chelsea, Mass., last Saturday.

He turned over to the two citizens $5,000 cash, which, he said, was his share of the loot.

"I know you are detectives," he told M. J. McDonough, of Detroit, and M. M. Conroy, of Chicago. They questioned him at length, and Petkewicz, beginning to suspect they were not officers, demanded the return of the money. They turned him over to the police.

ALDERMEN AIR CITY FINANCES

Admit Sinking Funds Diverted, But Expediency Dictated, They Claim—Municipal Inspector's Report Revealed

"Inside information" on some of the nominally illegal acts of the city relating to the diversion of sinking funds for general purposes, carried out some months ago in the name of expediency, was revealed at last night's meeting of the City Council.

Although there was some heated discussion, several members of the Council denying knowledge of the transactions and firing a lot of questions at each other about them, the general view after the whole subject had been ventilated was that no individuals were to blame; that financial conditions had dictated such measures, and that everything would soon be set right.

The finance committee, headed by Ald. A. E. Andrews, brought in this report, which was endorsed:

"That the Premier's charge of the diversion of sinking funds is substantially correct, but that the Comptroller assures us that there is no present diversion of local improvement sinking funds and that we expect the report for 1921, when prepared by the Comptroller and passed by the audit committee, to show that all requirements of the municipal inspector in this respect have been complied with. Further, that the sales of reverted lands will henceforth enable us to comply more strictly with the requirements of the municipal inspector."

Ald. Aitken moved at the close of the meeting that the City Auditor be asked to submit a report as to when, how and for what purpose the diversion of sinking funds was made. This resolution was passed.

Some Were Surprised
Ald. Fullerton said he was "thunderstruck" by the report about diversion of the funds. He wanted to know all about it. The time would come some day, he declared, when the public would demand to know.

The City Comptroller then explained what he believed to be the circumstances surrounding the original decision to divert the funds. He told of a meeting in December, 1919, or January, 1920, between City Treasurer E. C. Smith, Auditor Grimsman and Mayor Porter and Ald. Sargent, then chairman of the Finance Committee. Mr. Raymond said the meeting took place when he was away ill. Those at the meeting agreed that the funds should be used in the way that had subsequently been adopted, said Mr. Raymond, who was relating Mr. Smith's version.

"I don't know what you have to say, Mr. Mayor, but I want to state that until last week I was under the impression that every dollar received in taxes for debt had been properly placed," said Ald. Sargent, whose term as Finance Committee chairman expired at the commencement of this year. "I never consented or ever was asked to consent to the misplacement of the city's money."

"It may not have been legal, but they did what business men would have done," said Ald. Woodward. Mayor Porter denied having any recollection of the conference.

Alderman Denies Story
"I say positively that the statement is untrue," declared Ald. Sargent, referring to Mr. Raymond's story. "The general sinking fund has always been intact. At one time we ran into arrears to the extent of $3,000,000 altogether. About one-half of that was represented by general taxes. For every dollar levied 35 per cent was provided for debt. If from $1,500,000 arrears the city had made up 35 per cent the money must have come from some place, and because the general fund has been intact something else must be short."

Ald. Woodward held that Ald. Sargent, as chairman of the finance committee, should know all about that phase of it, and Ald. Sargent retorted that the present chairman, Ald. Andrews, might have some explanation to offer.

Ald. Andrews said that when he was appointed chairman of the finance committee he had doubts as to whether anyone knew the true status of the city's finances, and had the new auditor, Mr. J. R. Floyd, prepare a special report. Referring to this report, Municipal Inspector Robert Baird had stated in a memorandum to the Minister of Finance that it was the first attempt made to deal with

Will Soon Be Called Upon to Decide Between Contrary Views of United States and Japanese Representatives—Japan Insists on 10-10-7 Ratio for Three Powers

SEVENTY PER CENT MINIMUM NEEDED

Admiral Kato Declares That Securing of Limitation Is Main Issue, Not Fixing of Proportions—United States Is Understood to Stand by 5-5-3 Proposal—British Silent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The arms conference is approaching its first great decision.

It was announced tonight by Vice-Admiral Kato, chief Japanese naval expert, that Japan seeks a seventy per cent naval ratio. It also was announced on equal authority that the American delegation stood firmly on Secretary Hughes' 5-5-3 ratio proposal, which means a sixty per cent status for Japan. The conference ultimately must reconcile these two views or accept one or the other to reach an agreement.

The American view is that sixty per cent for Japan is the maximum naval strength that could be accepted in view of American liabilities in the Pacific. What action British experts may take is not known. The report, however, will clear the way for action by the conference on the principles.

"Japan is prepared to scrap capital ships under construction and old battleships," said Admiral Kato. "The naval ratio is a question of grave concern to the security of the nations. I hope that the United States will accept the seventy per cent for Japan, which is the minimum of strength required for her security."

"People of all countries must be in full agreement. Otherwise, even though an agreement may be made, it might create an unpleasant feeling and defeat its purpose. To meet the desires of the Japanese people, I believe a seventy per cent ratio, as compared with the United States and Great Britain, is necessary."

Limitation Main Issue

The main issue in the limitation of armaments is to relieve the burdens of the nations. Japan has shown her hearty accord with the idea, and has agreed to the wholesale scrapping of capital ships under construction as well as old ships. This practically means that the great purpose of the conference has been attained.

"When you think about sacrifices made by the nations represented, it seems clear that the degree of sacrifice is great for Japan. I mean that it will be felt more keenly by us than by the United States, because our industrial and shipbuilding power cannot be compared to that of America."

"The preamble to the American proposals says that the United States believes that the plan safeguards the interests of all concerned."

"Let me emphasize again that to safeguard the interests of the Japanese empire 70 per cent is necessary. If the ratio of 70 per cent is accorded, Japan this does not mean the purpose of the conference is defeated, because the main purpose of the present meeting is limitation of armaments. The relative of tonnage is not the principal issue."

He contended that the capacity of Japan to replace her warships was infinitely less than that of the United States. Japan, he said, would be quite unable with her present shipbuilding and industrial strength, and taking into account the paucity of her raw material, more especially steel, to engage successfully in competition as to the replacement of ships.

"For instance," he said, "do you realize that the yearly output of steel in Japan is only 800,000 tons? Under these circumstances it is quite impossible for Japan to think of entering into any race with any strong industrial power in Japan, which is asking for seven ships to every ten of the other greater industrial powers, is merely putting forth a request that seems to me eminently fair and reasonable."

May Find Substitute For Japan Alliance

Representatives at Washington Reported to Be Considering Arbitration Agreement Between United States and Island Empire—Conference's Work Said to Be Well Forward

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—A new light on the possible solution of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance situation appeared through the fog of the conference speculation and gossip today. An indication came from an authoritative source that a plan is under consideration to effect an arbitration agreement between Japan and the United States. Such an agreement between Great Britain and the United States is now in existence, and it is believed the third side of the triangle would be filled in by effecting a compact of friendship and arbitration of all disputes between Great Britain and Japan to supersede the present treaty between the two countries.

The plan would be in line with what has always been understood to be Canada's policy in regard to the Alliance—the substitution of some agreement friendly to Japan, but unobjectionable to the United States, for the much-discussed document which is now in force. The other Dominions, it is thought, also would be strong advocates of such a proposal.

Not Definite Alliance
The triangular arrangement calling for arbitration of all disputes between the three big powers, it is pointed out, would not involve any of the features of a definite alliance which would be unacceptable to the people of the United States, and at the same time would doubtless be considered an acceptable substitute for the British alliance by the people of Japan.

A hint was given today by a British spokesman that the conference may end its labors much earlier than expected. Referring to a statement that M.

Viviani plans to leave for France on December 14, he declared any comment on that fact should come from the French delegation, but gave it as his personal view that there was no reason to doubt a settlement of all matters of interest to France being reached by that date.

Regarding the progress of the discussions, he said:

"The delegates of Great Britain, Japan and the United States are all optimistic, and are quite satisfied with the progress made."

Attitude of France
This is taken as an indication that the fears of some observers that the attitude of France on the question of naval armaments would prove an obstacle to an agreement, may prove unfounded. No definite disclosure of France's position has yet been made, but the spokesmen in day indicated that whatever agreement is finally reached will include both France and Italy. This was stated in answer to a question as to whether the three big powers would proceed to a settlement without including the two smaller naval powers interested, particularly in the Mediterranean.

President Harding's endorsement of the idea of continuing the conference which in time may lead to some form of association of nations, has come as a bombshell in United States political circles, and discussion today chiefly concerned that phase of the subject.

Rene Viviani, of the French delegation, has engaged passage to return home on the French line steamer Paris, sailing for France December 14, provided the work of the conference has been concluded by that time.

RAILWAYS MAKE BETTER SHOWING

Improve Revenues and Decrease Their Operation Ratio—President Hanna Hopeful for National System's Future

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—The operating ratio established by Canadian railways for August was 86.41 per cent, according to a statement from the Dominion bureau of statistics. These figures show a decided improvement over August, 1920, when the operating ratio was 98.82 per cent. For the eight months ended August 31, 1921, the average operating ratio was 86.68 per cent, and for the same period in 1920, 100.87 per cent. This improvement was effected by reductions in operating expenses. The total was reduced by $6,229,688, or 15 per cent. More than 43 per cent of the reduction was accounted for by a reduction in payroll of $5,118,110. The general reduction in wages in last July was responsible for approximately one-half of this decrease. With these reductions in the expenses there was a decrease in the total train miles of 12 per cent; in loaded freight car miles of 13 per cent; in revenue freight ton miles of 24 per cent; in ton miles of revenue and non-revenue freight of 22 per cent, and in passengers carried one mile of 13 per cent.

The Canadian Government Railways reduced their operating deficit from $58,824 in July, 1921, and $795,427 in August, 1920, to $70,084 in August, 1921. The operating ratio of 102 per cent was the lowest this year. The Canadian Northern Railway had a net operating revenue of $217,044 for the first time this year. The operating ratio was 96.14 per cent, as against 127.96 per cent for August, 1920, and 106.36 per cent for July, 1921.

The Canadian Pacific operating ratio was 82.33 per cent, as against 84.44 for August, 1920. There was an increase of $435,000 in the net revenues.

President Hanna's Statement
TORONTO, Nov. 28.—In connection with the report for October of the Canadian National Railways, indicating gross earnings of $12,904,133 and operating expenses of $11,870,003, or net earnings of $1,034,130, D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railway, said:

"Nothing succeeds like success. That first little net of $47,000 for August put new life into the organization, and what's more, it helped with a big section of the public. We find that there is all over Canada a better feeling toward the National system. The fine action given by the Canadian National Railways in handling the grain this fall has also had something to do with it."

"The net of half a million dollars, announced for the month of October, means more business for us in December and January. The months of January and February are bad months to face, but we are not at all despondent about the future, and, if the lower rates prove any help to business, the railways will certainly be pleased to handle it. Greater volume of business is what the National Railways want for Christmas, and our socks are hanging up all along the line from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

MR. MARCHANT WILL RUN FOR MAYORALTY

Scores Present Administration for Handling of Finances—Brig-Gen. Clark Decides Not to Be Candidate

Following the definite announcement by Brig-Gen. R. P. Clark that he would not enter the mayoralty contest, Mr. William Marchant last night declared himself a candidate to oppose Mayor Robert J. Porter's fight for a fourth term.

Mr. Marchant stated early in the year that he would probably be in the running for Mayor, but this aspiration was temporarily subordinated when he threw his hat into the Federal ring. When he withdrew from the Commons Albert contest, however, Mr. Marchant again focused his attention on the municipal situation, and in the Colonist of several weeks ago he was quoted as saying there was a strong probability of his candidature. He definitely made up his mind last night.

That he will deliver a few sharp blows to the city's financial policies and transactions during the campaign was indicated by his assertion that the city's diversion of sinking fund moneys for general purposes was "monstrous," and that he would insist on an investigation of the city's methods of raising revenue.

"There is necessity for drastic economy," declared Mr. Marchant. "We need in this city an independent auditor, uncontrollable by the Council. Perhaps such a man could be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council."

"We need independent re-estimation of the city's real property; also an independent court of revision, such as might be constituted by a county court judge."

Reverted Lands
"Insufficient land is made of the city's reverted lands. I see many ways in which they might be made revenue producers. Such lots as are adjacent to schools should be converted into playgrounds, as they are the property of the city. Some might be grouped together and made into parks. It would help solve the unemployment problem by giving men jobs on these lots, turning them into gardens."

"The city handled the unemployment question in a wretched way last winter. Unemployment is acute and worldwide, but locally it should not offer many difficulties if co-operation and sound sense are practiced. The city should do its utmost to improve work during the winter months."

"Antagonism and hostility should give way to cordiality and friendliness in the Council's relations with the School Board. I am opposed to the amalgamation proposal. The Council has enough to keep it busy already."

"Fighting the Government for new sources of revenue is useless. The money comes from the same pocket anyway. Besides, important concessions have been made, and there is no need for additional expenditure."

"Other planks in the Marchant platform are: Disposal by auction of unsold market produce; transference of the E. & N. bridge span to Rock Bay; investigation into the whole procedure and methods of collecting public revenues."

Mr. Marchant served as an alderman in 1896. He was five years on the School Board and ten years on the Library Board.

P. G. E. INVESTIGATION

URGED ON HOUSE

Delegation Representative of Industrial Interests Puts Plea to Government—Premier Promises Expert Inquiry

The future of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will be the outcome of a consultation between experts named by President Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Mr. D. B. Hanna, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian National Railway Company, if the plan outlined yesterday in a discussion between a delegation of prominent representatives of industrial interests and the Government is carried into effect.

The meeting was the outcome of the gathering held at Vancouver on Saturday, when the outlays on the P.G.E. system were discussed, the tremendous demands upon the Province through that enterprise being considered. At that meeting a delegation was named to wait upon the Government and suggest that expert advice as to the advisability or otherwise of continuing the Government-owned railway should be secured, and to have competent technical advisers appointed for that purpose.

Yesterday morning's meeting was a private one, and following it the Premier announced that he would consult with Messrs. Beatty and Hanna and ask them to suggest competent men to go into the whole situation of the line.

The Premier announced that he was quite willing to consult with Mr. Beatty, leader of the Conservative opposition, following the suggestion made by the delegation that he and the Leader of the Opposition should get together to the end that the present heavy financial demands of the line might be curtailed.

The delegation, which was composed of Sir Frank Barnard, former Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, Mr. E. P. Davis, K.C., Mr. Chris. Spencer, Mr. Eric Hamber, Mr. Blake Wilson and Mr. R. P. Butchart, waited upon the Premier of the Opposition following their meeting with the Premier.

Mr. Bowser informed them he would welcome an investigation being made of the Government railway by experts, and he recalled that two sessions ago he had advocated such a step on the floor of the House. At that time he had suggested the name of Mr. Tye, chief engineer of the C.P.R. He urged that any investigation undertaken should be made by competent, qualified men.

Women for Traffic Directors

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Women traffic "cops" made their bow to the New York public today. At all intersections in the vicinity of public schools women police reserves were on duty. They were called out to replace 2,500 patrolmen who are on duty protecting milk wagons during the milk handlers' strike. Whistles are the sole weapons of the volunteer force.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. I was very poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, tremor and was easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I was told by a doctor who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

AIM RESOLUTIONS AGAINST ORIENTALS

Chamber of Commerce Committee Urges Action Striking at Penetration of Social and Economic Life by Asiatics

Exclusion of Oriental immigration, action by the civic authorities to raise the standard of living of present Oriental residents, denial of the right to Oriental residents in future to own property, and segregation of Chinese pupils at public schools, are among the recommendations submitted to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by a special committee under Mr. J. D. O'Connell, which has been investigating the problems of Oriental aggression here.

The opinions of the committee were summed up in a series of resolutions agreed to by the majority of members. Mr. Christian Silvert submitted a minority report, dissenting from the recommendation relating to land ownership. The directors will take action on the resolutions at their meeting next Monday.

"It is all very well to speak of the brotherhood of man and clapping hands across the seas, but I don't think anyone will be hurt by the contention that social equality should not be recognized," declared Mr. J. O. Cameron, a member of the committee, who charged that the present system of public school education was encouraging social equality and should be remedied.

Asked about the rights of Chinese already owning land here, Mr. O'Connell replied: "We consider that as settled. We can do nothing about that now."

"I think we should take up with the City Council at once the question of Oriental land ownership in some of Victoria's best residential districts," said Mr. John L. Beckwith, who stated that Chinese were now building large homes on Rockland Avenue. In the heart of Victoria's most exclusive district.

"The mixture of whites and Chinese in the public schools is abominable," declared Mr. Beckwith, who is a member of the School Board.

The recommendations of the committee and the minority report follow: Exclusion of Oriental immigration; That this committee favors exclusion of Oriental immigration and endorses the resolution of the Provincial Government re Oriental exclusion, as per copy attached of Government resolution by the board of directors, and that the Federal Government be so advised.

Standard of living: That the Chamber of Commerce urge the City Council to take action to raise the standards of living of the present Oriental residents by rigorous enforcement of the Sanitary and Public Health by-laws.

Owning of property: That the Chamber of Commerce urge the Provincial Government to pass legislation to deny the right in future to own property to all Orientals.

Shop closing regulations: That the by-law regulating the closing of shops be rigidly enforced and that it be made necessary that shops, which are permitted to be open for longer hours under this by-law, shall be entirely separate from shops which are closed under this by-law; thus doing away with the present practice of having a thin wall partition between two different shops, with a convenient connecting door at the rear.

Exclusive schools: Having learned that a school is already being operated in the city of Victoria exclusively for the education of Orientals, and believing that an extension of these exclusive facilities would not be objectionable, and probably favored by the Oriental population, and further that it would be advantageous to both Oriental and white residents, this committee recommends to the board of directors that the Chamber of Commerce recommend to the Board of School Trustees the extension of the exclusive facilities, and the provision of additional rooms and schools exclusively for the education of Orientals as a necessity and opportunity permit.

Mr. Silvert's minority report follows: Being one of those appointed as a special committee to consider the Oriental questions, and finding it impossible to agree to some of the committee's recommendations, I am availing myself of a suggestion made by the chairman of the said committee, by presenting the following minority report.

The recommendations consist of five sections, namely:

1. Exclusion of Orientals.
2. Standard of living.
3. Owning of property.
4. Separate schools.
5. Shop closing regulations.

On the above I wish to state that I am in hearty accord with a complete and thorough exclusion of all Oriental immigrants. Organized labor has consistently demanded such legislation ever since the Oriental's presence in this Province began to develop that unfair competition in the field of employment which has since extended to the field of commerce. I also agree with the proposal of rigid and impartial enforcement of the sanitary and public health regulations.

As to Section 3, which asks for legislation denying the ownership in property (in land) to all Orientals, I take it that the object of the committee's recommendations is to lessen Oriental competition in industry and commerce, and as the proposed restrictions neither deal with wages nor licenses to do business, I fail to see how such measure would accomplish its purpose. It seems to me the contrary would be the result. Being deterred from investing in real estate, the Oriental would direct his money into trade. The proposal seems to anticipate the continued arrivals of Orientals, which will weaken the demand for exclusion as not being fully believed in by the promoters of the agitation movement. This legislation would also tend to sharpen the competition in industry between Oriental and Occidental workmen. Apart from this, I observe that the proposal makes no distinction between naturalized Orientals and their children, raised and educated in Canada, and those merely dwelling here without having obtained citizens' rights.

In respect to this phase of the question I wish to go on record as strongly dissenting from any attempt to abridge the rights of the citizens.

While the establishment of any segregation system in the schools on the ground of nationality only is undesirable, I think the recommendation

A Word Regarding Christmas GiftsFor Women

The store is so filled with suggestions both practical and frivolous that no one should have the least difficulty wondering what to give any woman. There are accessories, and trifles made of ribbon, that are very inexpensive; there are blouses, negligees and lingerie that are quite moderately priced, and there is no end of beautiful things; frocks, wraps, etc., for the "she" you wish to remember most handsomely. Just one tour of the store will solve your problems.

tions of the committee and the reasons given therefor will commend themselves to the directors and the people at large, as a method well calculated to meet a difficult situation.

The recommendation on the shop closing regulations meets with my entire approval.

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Liberal tariff platform, endorsed by Mr. Mackenzie King, proposes that the following foodstuffs should be admitted to Canada free of duty: meats of all kinds, poultry, fish, sugar, butter, eggs, cheese, vegetables, fruits, milk, wheat, flour, all products of wheat, and, in fact, staple groceries of all kinds. The Liberals are proposing this measure of free trade at a time when the Fordney Emergency Tariff on Canadian foodstuffs has gone into effect in the United States. Through the tariff, this Dominion's foodstuffs, which have constituted our main exports to the United States, are very largely shut out from that market. In introducing the bill before Congress, Mr. Fordney said: "The bill will not let in Canadian wheat, but will save to the American farmer the right to raise a bushel of wheat instead of transferring that right to Canada." It is a matter of record that President Harding, in the course of his election campaign, pledged himself to protection without reservation or qualification, and he did this with emphasis on the subject of agriculture.

The outcome of the putting into effect of the Liberal tariff platform would not help this country in any particular to sell foodstuffs worth a dollar more in foreign markets than we are selling at present. Our trade in this respect is steadily declining since the Fordney Emergency Tariff went into force. The Liberal policy of allowing foodstuffs to enter this country duty free would mean that Canada would be swamped with the cheap surplus products of the United States, as well as with those from other countries. We should buy more than ever before from the United States, but our purchasing power would continuously decline as the adverse balance of trade became more and more pronounced, as the rate of exchange steadily rose against the Canadian dollar and as our agricultural industry found a contracting home market for its products. The adverse rate of exchange at present means a drain on the resources and the pockets of the people of this country which is seriously estimated at from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually. The removal of the duty from foodstuffs entering this country, without any reciprocity by any other nation, would be a blow to our agricultural industry from which it could not survive.

It is inconceivable that the credulity of our people can be so great as to be imposed on by the arguments in favor of the chimerical benefits which would accrue through the Liberal tariff platform. Mr. McElwain, in memorable words, has alluded to the danger of this Dominion becoming economically dependent on the United States, when he said: "There is one great truth inherent in our geography, and it is this—we must never drift into a position where we become dependent upon the fiscal decisions of another nation, and that nation the most aggressive commercial entity on earth. The moment we forget that truth we commence to lose the battle. The more the drift continues, the more powerful the dependence becomes." The issue in the election on December 6 is an economic one, and we cannot help believing that the law of self preservation will operate in the minds of the people when they cast their ballots. Canada cannot take the risk of adopting the platform of either the Liberals or the Farmers without the certainty that the adoption of either will lead to economic distress. The motto of the country should be to develop to their fullest extent the resources of the Dominion by ourselves and to safeguard our own interests. This cannot be done by allowing all other nations to dump their surplus products, and especially their foodstuffs, on our markets, duty free. That would lead to voluntary strangulation of our industries and economic suicide.

RACE TRACK TAXATION

New Provincial legislation provides that a five per cent tax to be levied on race track winnings, which is estimated to yield $250,000, is to be divided among the municipalities on a per capita basis. Since race meetings are only held at three places in the Province, and one of these is at the Willows, the new legislation to a large extent means that the people of Vancouver and Victoria are to be directly taxed to assist in financing the needs of municipalities throughout British Columbia. This proposal is unjust. On the basis of a per capita distribution of such a revenue, and on the supposition that $250,000 could be collected through race track imposts, Victoria's share would be less than $25,000 of this amount, although the probability is that the people of Victoria would have contributed anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000 towards the tax. The proposal, therefore, would mean that this city would be paying out annually a sum of from $10,000 to $15,000 to assist in straightening out the financial difficulties of other municipalities. The municipal situation here and in Vancouver does not warrant the distribution of this tax on a per capita basis throughout the Province, since it will be collected practically altogether from the people of these two municipalities. The award to municipalities of the 50 per cent increase in motor licence fees is an equitable arrangement, and one that can legitimately be carried out on a per capita basis. We do not see, however, what argument can be advanced in favor of a similar arrangement affecting race track taxes. Before the legislation dealing with these is finally disposed of this point should be settled. The race track imposts are certain to prove unpopular, as it is proposed to levy them on the false premises that a far greater amount of money is in circulation for this character of betting than is actually the case. That, however, is a matter that will develop in the course of time, and if the attempt is made to levy taxes on the same money over and over again there will be a reaction which may effectively put an end to racing in this Province, and thus automatically cut off the source of revenue that is proposed. In charging a special amusement tax on race meets, or in imposing a fairly heavy licence fee for the holding of such meets, the Province would be doing no more than the people expect it should do. An accumulative tax on the money which the people are risking for their pleasure, is, however, an entirely different matter. The point for the moment is to ascertain why it should be proposed that Victoria and Vancouver should be especially milked by new taxation in order to assist municipal finances throughout the Province.

A SUM OF $184,753

Before the present session of the Provincial Legislature ends there should be a definite understanding, so that municipalities will know that they are to receive half the net profits accruing through the operation of the Liquor Control Act. In the financial statement of the Liquor Board for the first three and a half months' operation of the legislation, there is an item of $184,753, which is the value of confiscated liquor. This appears to be regarded as a liability instead of being part of the profit accruing to the board during the accounting period. This item does not appear in the profit and loss account, whereas it should, the value of confiscated liquor which is sold by the Board at its liquor stores representing profit. We maintain that this sum of $184,753, or whatever larger sum represented the receipts received by the Board from the sale of the confiscated liquor which is represented at the value stated, constitutes an addition to the net profits. These net profits, therefore, instead of standing at $141,608.51 for the three and half months, as shown by the financial statement of the Board, should stand at a total of $728,358.51. This contention dealing with confiscated liquors is a serious one for the municipalities. The language of the present act is specific. It says: "One-half of the net amount (profits) shall be apportioned and paid to the several municipalities in the Province in proportion to their respective population as a part of the municipal revenue." It is the duty of the municipalities, through their representatives in the Legislature, to see to it that they get their full share according to the legislation. It is provided that the accounts of the Liquor Control Board shall be made up at such times as may be determined by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and that in every case a balance sheet and a statement of profit and loss shall be prepared and submitted to the Comptroller-General for his certification. We doubt very much if the Comptroller can have certified the statement with which we are dealing, inasmuch as an amount of $184,753, the value of confiscated liquors, is set forth as a liability, where it is a definite profit which should be included in the profit and loss account. The municipalities are entitled to fifty per cent of this amount, and the Legislature should see that their rights are safeguarded.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of November 28, 1871)
Flagship Ball.—H.M.S. Zealous will sail at daylight tomorrow morning. The gallant admiral and the officers of the ship, who have long been the very life and soul of every social or festive gathering, will be daily missed. Many regretful adieux were spoken yesterday, all feeling that it may be many months before the station will be visited by a ship whose company will comprise so many genial gentlemen as that of the Zealous.
How in the District.—The snow at North Saanich yesterday was 18 inches deep. At Lake it was 11 inches. The farmers have a disquiet of the bulk of their fodder may well shudder at the prospect of a hard winter.
Dominion Navy.—General officers of H.M. fleet now on this station have applied for leave to visit the Dominion Navy.

pleasure and satisfaction with which they and the people of Canada have received the news of the engagement of Her Royal Highness Princess Mary. They desire to offer to Your Majesty and to Her Royal Highness their heartfelt congratulations and good wishes.
"BYNG."
London, Nov. 26, 1921.
"The Queen and I deeply appreciate the kind message which you have forwarded from yourself, your Government and the people of Canada on the occasion of the engagement of our dear daughter, who joins with us in the expression of our heartfelt gratitude for these words of congratulations and good wishes."
"GEORGE, R.I."
WINNIPEG, Nov. 28.—In reply to a delegation representing the Moderation League of Manitoba, which waited upon the Government this morning, Premier, T. C. Norris stated that at the session of Legislature which opens on January 1, the House would be asked to decide whether a referendum shall be held in the Province to determine if Government dispensaries shall be opened for the sale of liquor.
Colonel W. M. Grams, head of the delegation, announced that the league would present a petition to the Legislature, signed by 28,000 residents of the Province, asking for the sale of liquor under the permit system plan which has been established in British Columbia.
"A revenue of $2,000,000 would be obtained by the Government the first year the dispensaries were open," Col. W. M. Grams declared.

"FLASH"

The Wonder-Working Starting Fluid

Save your battery! "Flash" starts the motor on the first turn on the coldest days of winter. "Flash" is a special oil distillation that ignites considerably below the ignition point of gasoline. A few drops in the pet cocks or spark plugs does the trick.

City and District in Brief

Signalling Postponed—There will be no cadet signalling class at the Drill Hall this afternoon. The parade will be held on Wednesday as usual.

Strawberry Vale W. L.—A general meeting of the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute will be held at the Institute rooms this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

British-Israel—The British-Israel Association will meet as usual this evening at the hall, 597 Fort Street. The subject of the address will be the evidence of the truth of British-Israel teachings.

Kumukus Club—Kumukus Club members who have not already received their Blue Curran tickets, which were kindly presented to the club by Miss Honora the Lieutenant-Governor, may obtain same from Miss Brown, at the door.

Unemployment Committee—President James H. Beatty, of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday appointed Messrs. Joshua Kingham, P. C. Abel, B. J. Drake and Christian Rivers to serve as a committee on unemployment.

Decree Absolute Granted—The undefended suit of McCrosman vs. McCrosman, the husband being the petitioner, was heard by Mr. Justice Morrison in the Supreme Court yesterday. A decree absolute was granted. Mr. Oscar Ham appeared for the petitioners.

Speaks at Metchohn—Mr. T. B. Booth, the Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo riding, and Mr. Smith-Booth will address a meeting of electors at Metchohn this evening. The meeting will be followed by a social and dance, an orchestra from the city supplying the music.

Unemployed To Meet—The unemployed will meet this afternoon in the Old Drill Hall, Main Street, for the purpose of receiving the report of the committee which walked up to the City Council last evening. The Executive Council yesterday agreed to allow the use of the Drill Hall.

Workmen's Sale—O. F. sale of workmen's goods will be at the Foresters' Hall this afternoon and tomorrow morning from 10 o'clock to receive any article for the sale of work.

Welsh Choir—For convenience of members of the choir the weekly practices will be held every Tuesday evening at 7:45 in the Campbell Building. As it is the intention of the choir to give a concert in the near future, the Welsh residents are urged to join as soon as possible.

A Good Guess—The guessing contest at the number of stones in a barrel which took place at the Junior W.A. sale of work connected with Christ Church Cathedral on Friday night was won by Mrs. Russell, of Collinson Street, who guessed the exact number, 153. The prize consists of a rocking horse.

Commercial Men's Dance—The United Commercial Travelers are holding their November invitation dance in the Orange Hall, Courthouse Street, tonight, from 9 o'clock to 1 a.m. Invitations have been issued and good time is assured all who accept the commercial men's hospitality.

To Supply Hydrants—The Ramsey Machine Works was granted the contract for fifty hydrants by the Saanich Council last night in connection with the water extension plans of the municipality. The Marine Iron Works, whose tender was the lowest, declined, stating that a mistake in the cost of estimates had been made in the preparation of the tender.

Referendum By-Law—The Municipal Cemetery Referendum By-Law, under which a referendum was held on the question of whether Saanich should co-operate with the city in the matter of an intermunicipal cemetery under terms of the Municipal Cemetery Act, which will be put to the ratepayers at the January elections, was put through various stages by the Saanich Council last night.

Intelligible Building Sites—Amendment to the Municipal Act to make it possible for the Council to prohibit the building of residences on property not suitable for sanitary or other reasons, will be asked by the Saanich Council, that body decided last night. The councillors had before them a case of a residence below the street level, which could not be satisfactorily served by a septic tank.

Summons Case Dismissed—The charge against E. McKenzie of failing to stop his motor car behind a street car standing to discharge passengers, was dismissed by Magistrate Jay in the city police court yesterday. The police evidence showed that the defendant's car was abreast of the street car, which the latter stopped, and the court held that no offence under the by-law had been disclosed.

Trades Council to Meet—A special meeting of the Trades and Labor Council will be held this evening for the purpose of discussing the recommendations of the Civic Reform Committee, headed by Alderman Todd, who recently appeared before the Trades Council in connection with this matter. The question of Labor candidates in the civil elections will also be up for consideration.

G. W. V. A. Executive—A special meeting of the executive of the Great War Veterans' Association will take place tonight at 8 o'clock, in the rooms, Bastion Street. As the organization has voted to pass out of existence, a number of matters in accomplishing that condition must be dealt with, and a large attendance of members is requested at tonight's gathering.

West Saanich W. L.—The members of the West Saanich Women's Institute will hold a bazaar at the Institute rooms, Sisseton Station, next Friday afternoon and evening. There will be a splendid array of plain and fancy articles for sale, home-made candy, etc. There will be a military five hundred in the evening, with good prizes. After the drive there will be a programme. During the afternoon a late demonstration will take place.

Veterans Meet Tonight—A special meeting of the Amalgamated Veterans' Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock, in the Trades Hall, Broad Street. The executive council will submit for the meeting's consideration instructions that will be given to the association's delegates to the coming amalgamation convention in Winnipeg. Only paid-up members of the organization will be admitted tonight.

A. A. J. Veterans—The Executive Council of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, which met in the board room, Hamley Building, on Thursday, December 1, at 8:15 p.m. All members are requested to attend. All members of the association are requested to attend the funeral of their late comrade, E. I. Pollard, which will take place from the Sands Funeral Parlor on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Hospital Linen Shower—In connection with the thanksgiving linen shower to be held at the Jubilee Hospital tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, a special request has come from the patients of the tubercular ward for flannelette sheets, against the winter weather. Twenty-four pairs will be needed to afford anything like an adequate supply, and perhaps this hint will bear fruit in the minds of some of the kind donors.

Sale at St. Paul's—The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold its annual sale of work in the social room of the church tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. A large variety of useful gifts will be on display in the plain and fancy sewing department, and a generous display of foods and dishes will grace the home-cooking department. A toy table and fishing contest will be in evidence for the children. Tea and refreshments will be served as usual. At 5 o'clock a concert and social will be held.

Work for Unemployed—Plans for the alleviating of hardships caused by the municipality through unemployment, were discussed by the Saanich Council last night. Wood-cutting and rookbreaking schemes were decided upon. Cordwood will be cut along Prospect Lake, between the present road edges and the gazetted lines. Two dollars per cord, cut in four-foot lengths and stacked on the land, will be paid to provide their own tools. Rookbreaking will be paid for at the rate of $3 per yard.

Prison Sentence—Yen Tin was sentenced by Magistrate Jay in the city police court yesterday to a term of three months' imprisonment on a conviction of having opium and cocaine in his cabin in Theatre Alley. Constables Charles A. Knick and George S. Grant, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, testified to finding the drugs in the cabin. Yen Tin admitted having the opium, but said he had come from Kim, a Chinaman sent to prison last week on a similar conviction. "Well, you will have to go and stay with Kim for three months," said the magistrate.

Threatened to Shoot—Carmine Fusco, Italian woodcutter, squatting on land belonging to the B.C. Electric Company, near Granite Station, was sent jail for one month by Magistrate Jay yesterday, on a conviction of pointing a rifle at John Durrance. Mrs. Nina Durrance, mother of John, Collins Street, who accused and threatened her, and had pointed his rifle at her son. The accused said that he turned loose some tame rabbits on the land, and that he said that since they had multiplied people were shooting them. He said he only pointed the rifle to frighten the complainant, and had no intention of hurting anyone. Mr. C. L. Tait appeared for the prosecution; the case being heard in the Saanich police court.

Macquarrie Carnival—At a meeting held recently by the officers of the 8th Regiment, C.G.A., the plans for the carnival to be held at the New Drill Hall on New Year's Eve, December 31, were further discussed, and it was decided this event would be in the nature of a grand masquerade carnival, with special attention given to decorations and lighting effects. The original plan was to provide table accommodation for everyone, but upon consideration this was found to be too costly. An endeavor will be made to provide dominoes and masks at a reasonable rental to any who are unable to otherwise procure a fancy dress. Fancy dress, however, is optional, but everyone will be requested to come masked. The sale of tickets will be announced later.

Free Trade vs. Protection
Sir—Every great political contest adds new words to our vocabulary, call it tariff reform, reciprocity or what you like.

At first it is not always easy to grasp the exact meaning of such words as intended to convey, and those who might really make them plain make the mistake of supposing that their authors or readers are acquainted with at least the elementary facts they are meant to express, and this is by no means always the case. All of us who read our papers, and whom now study them for more keenly than in the past, know that it has something to do with commercial relations between our country and the United States and that upon it was fought one general election in the Dominion, which resulted in the rout, absolute and complete, of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal cabinet. And Mr. Borden, now Sir Robert, that mighty and fearless champion of Canadian independence from American influence, came into power with a mandate to protect our country since the Dominion, in 1878, accepted the policy of protection for herself.

Rudyard Kipling put the position with clearness into a message he was asked to send during the crisis as the election approached: "I do not understand," he wrote, "how nine millions can enter into such arrangements as are proposed with nearly millions, strangers on an open frontier of four thousand miles, and at the same time preserve their national integrity." True to one's word, too heavy odds. No single Canadian would accept such odds in any private matter that was as vital to him personally as this is to the nation. Why, then, when Canada has made herself what she is, should she throw the enormous gifts of her inheritance and her future into the hands of a people who by their haste and their waste have so disipated their own resources that even before national middle-age they are driven to seek virgin fields for cheaper food and living. And this is exactly what the Dominion has understood. It would not, in such a case, be reciprocity at all. To have accepted the principle would have been, a spur of trade for the next two or three years or so, at the cost of a strain upon natural supplies, which would have ultimately reduced her own capabilities as a manufacturing people, a development that will certainly come.

The United States has the highest proportion of tariff in the world. This is, of course, with a view of protecting her industries and of keeping the market entirely for the products of the American manufacturer and workman. But America, like other countries, seeks to compete in the world's markets. She is faced with her own internal problems of finding all the raw materials she wants. Hence she chafes about wider supplies, and our country, as her next neighbor, as part of the same continent, is naturally the service to which she would turn. So wheat, wool, raw meats, minerals, etc., are to be turned into flour, cheap furniture, hardware, etc., and bought back by us and others at a profit to our American neighbors.

No country has such huge trusts as the United States. Let me state a few facts about the evils of free trade and how the same affected large manufacturing firms in the British Isles.

First, photographic plates. About 1888 or 1892, a certain brand of American plates was dumped on the English markets. These, 4 1/2 plate size, were retailed at one shilling per packet of one dozen. The same plate size in Vancouver, special 6 for.....98c

Jascha HEIFETZ

and the World's Greatest Piano—The STEINWAY

Heifetz, wizard of the violin, charmed hundreds last evening at the Royal Victoria Theatre. His accompanist, Mr. Samuel Chotzinoff, also scored a triumph in the annals of local musical events, for his playing upon the great Steinway Piano was simply superb.

No other event of recent years has demonstrated so completely the unrivalled excellence of the Steinway Piano.

PREMIER OLIVER SUPPORTS MR. IVEL

Gathering at Empress Hotel Hears Vigorous Criticism of Present Administration at Ottawa by Speakers.

With vigorous and hurried criticism of the present administration under Hon. Arthur Meighen, to whom he persistently gave the title of "Lighthouse," calling him throughout the whole length before the audience was Arthur, Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia, supported the candidature of Mr. William Ivel in the Liberal contest at the meeting in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel last night. There was not a very large audience present, the hall being about three parts filled, owing, no doubt, to the unfavorable weather.

Mr. Oliver was the first speaker called by the chairman, Mr. H. H. Shandley, and he proceeded at once to an endeavor to demolish the ground from under Hon. Dr. Tolmie's feet and to riddle the Meighen administration with an outpouring of criticism. He said he would have to brief because the leader of the opposition, Hon. Mr. Bower, was watching for him in the local Legislature, which was holding a night session. He was no knowing what mischief he might be up to in his absence.

Reasons for Support
One of the strongest reasons why the people of Victoria should vote December 6 against the present administration at Ottawa, he said, was found in the action of Mr. Meighen in coming before the country now, when the benefits that ought to come from the redistribution of seats on the new basis of population were not in effect. If equity had been granted to the people this province would have from two to four more representatives in the next parliament at Ottawa.

"If there were reasons why the election should not have taken place before the census was taken there can be no possible excuse," Mr. Oliver declared, "for bringing it on now after the census has been taken, but before the redistribution of seats should follow it becomes effective."

Nearly all of the men who are now in the so-called Union administration are new and untired men. The older men who were in when Sir Robert Borden was in power have all fled to cover, Mr. Oliver said, because they knew what a flood of criticism was awaiting them at a general election. Mr. Meighen, he conceded, was the strongest man in the administration, but his supporters to the extent of two-thirds are new men. In speaking of the tariff question Mr. Oliver pointed out that Mr. Meighen had said that was the issue of the present election, but, when he granted it was one of the issues, he, the speaker, knew that it was not the only issue before the country at this time. Before the Conservative government came into power there had been no class population, but now the country is full of classes and parties, one divided against the other, and all the result of the tariff policy of the present administration.

Conditions Unfavorable
Some time ago the Premier said he had taken part in the greatest political convention ever held in Canada and at which Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King was chosen leader of the great Liberal party in succession to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He said that note at that convention was that conditions under the administration now at Ottawa were unfavorable. If this is so, he said, the only way to better conditions was to change the government by electing the Liberals to power.

Another big issue before the country now is the question of taxation. The present taxes in the Dominion are large because of the railway policy of the present government, and the government had been forced into this position by the big interests of the country. He admitted, he said, "that it is impossible for any other government to carry on without this heavy taxation."

One other reason why the country should return the Liberals to power at the coming election he said was found in the way the returned soldiers have been treated by the present administration. "Have they had fair play?" asked the Premier. Then, he said, there is the matter of unemployment. He did not think it was the part of the Provincial Government to do anything for the returned men; it is up to the Dominion government to do this for these men and send them overseas to see to it that they are found some sort of employment when they had returned.

The reason for so much unemployment today is to be found in the fact that men have been driven from the basic industries of the country, which are founded on the natural resources and given employment in the manufacturing to the loss of the natural industries. They have been taken from the natural industries of the country and placed in artificial industries.

Unemployment Question
As to the unemployment of men in the city of Victoria, he declared that the Province of British Columbia had guaranteed the bonds of the C. N. R. to the extent of $343,000, which amount is now lying idle in the Bank of Commerce, with the distinct understanding that the terminals of the railway were to be completed here. Mr. Oliver said that he had repeatedly tried to get the administration at Ottawa to start up this work, but he had so far failed. It was not till now that a decision had been made to extend the line. He had seen a report in the papers that Mr. Tolmie had received a telegram and that other telegrams had come from the East announcing this decision. He had known of that at least two days before, and he questioned whether these telegrams had ever come from the East.

In the matter of railway rates, which were an unfair discrimination against British Columbia for which the present government might be held responsible, he said that one hundred millions of dollars had been siphoned from this Province in excessive freightage. He said that he had followed Mr. Oliver, saying that the Premier had stolen his speech. He only spoke briefly and confined himself to the matter of his former addresses.

Mr. Henry C. Hall spoke at some length on the question of the tariff, and urged the audience to support

Lady Percy, of Vancouver, is registered at the Alexandra House for a few days.

Mrs. Laverne, a favorite in local musical circles for some years during her residence in the city, is the guest of Miss Helen Stewart for a few days.

Mrs. Lane Holmes, of Victoria, who has been visiting in Vancouver, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. R. M. Douglas, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Milligan and infant son left Victoria on Sunday en route for Alice Arm, where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Guy Ithwell, accompanied by her son David, returned to her home in Vancouver on Sunday. She had been spending the past week with her mother, Mrs. D. M. Ebert, George Road.

Mrs. Margaret Fairbairn, of the staff of the Victoria Star, is a guest of the island, staying with Mr. and Mrs. Laing, Stanley Avenue. She will be here about a fortnight.

The many friends of Mrs. H. J. Munkelt will be pleased to hear that she has returned to her home on Cold Harbor Road, from there to Pasadena, where she has been a patient for the past few weeks.

After a series of very successful and jolly dances, the Tropicana Club has decided to hold the next on Wednesday, December 2, in the Connaught Rooms, the proceeds to be devoted to the assistance of a needy family, so a large attendance of members and friends is hoped for.

Dr. J. S. Plankett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, and Mrs. Plankett have returned from a fortnight's trip to California, where Dr. Plankett went by special invitation of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific to deliver a paper. Subsequently they visited the Lick Observatory, proceeding from there to Pasadena, and remaining there about a week to visit Mt. Wilson Observatory. On the Sunday, November 20, they were the guests of the directors of the observatory, and on the north by way of Los Angeles and San Francisco, arriving in Victoria on Saturday.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. J. R. Hiberson, 3479 Bethune Avenue, last Saturday by a large number of friends who assembled to wish their host many happy returns of the day on the occasion of his birthday. Mr. Murray, on behalf of the guests presented Mr. Hiberson with a pipe and case, and a large supply of golf balls. Among the guests who were present and joined in the dancing and games which were played during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Whitcombe, Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Priestley, Miss Priestley, Miss Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Beckett, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Miss Stokes and Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

Dr. John L. Todd, accompanied by his eldest children, arrived here yesterday from Boston, and is registered at the Empress Hotel, where he will remain for the coming fortnight. Dr. Todd, who was last in Victoria in 1918 in the eldest son of Mrs. J. H. Todd, Fairfield Road, and is now to visit his mother, who is a patient at the Jubilee Hospital, following an accident in which he sustained a fractured limb. Mrs. Todd has made such satisfactory progress towards recovery that it is anticipated she will leave the hospital in a few days. Dr. Todd is one of Canada's leading scientists, and is associate professor of parasitology at McGill University. Last year he received much notice in the medical and scientific world by his research work in Poland in connection with the typhus germ.

Among those who attended the Jacobs Heifetz recital at the Royal Victoria Theatre last evening were His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, attended by Capt. Carver Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. DO YOUR BOWELS MOVE REGULARLY, OR DO THEY BECOME CONSTIPATED?

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble which does in itself to that is more liable to be neglected, because material which is retained may not be felt, at once, from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of the decomposing and effluvia, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or protruding piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc. MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatumacouche, N.S., writes: "I suffered for years with constipation. I took several different kinds of medicine, but could not get temporary relief. I was told to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I had taken one I found that I was relieved of my trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend Laxa-Liver Pills for any kind of constipation."

ELEVENTH HOUR ACTS BEFORE LEGISLATURE

Financial Measures Introduced to Meet Promises Made by Government — Opposition Desires More Information.

Explaining the principles of the new taxation amendments, introduced last night, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, informed the House that the amendments in motor tax were expected to increase Provincial revenue by at least $100,000. This amount would be given to the municipalities, he said, and would be marked for road construction.

The Succession Duty Act was of minor importance, he said, but it was expected that there would be a material increase in receipts. A revision of rates was being proposed, and greater assessments would be made.

In regard to the Taxation Act, the Minister said the idea had been to consolidate the act. This had not been done since 1911. Owing to the interruption of the war and the larger problems to be considered, this work had been delayed. The present amendments would take out of the act all reference to personal property and income taxes. This would make more certain the collection of these taxes. No change was effected, but it was merely a consolidation of the two principles of taxation.

Amusement Tax Act
The second reading of the bill to amend the Amusement Act was passed. The Minister of Finance said it was a question for the Lieutenant-Governor-Council to decide the places of amusement. He referred to race meets, and pointed out that under the original act the Government could collect two and one-half per cent on admissions; it was now proposed to change this and charge ten per cent. If the parliament system is changed, and if no facilities are charged, a minimum rate of ten cents would be collected.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, introduced a bill providing for the branding of boom chains. Considerable difficulty and not a little loss has been experienced by logging companies in the past through the mixing and misplacement of boom chains. Booms from various camps come to Vancouver, are broken up for sawing, the chains taken therefrom, being mixed either at the mill or in shipment back to the camp, and heretofore there has been no way of segregating them or of taking possession even though the chains were later found at some other landing.

The bill, as introduced, provides for a register of boom chain brands to be kept by the Forest Branch. In this register any owner may register a brand for marking his chains. The certificate of registration in his name is to be taken as prima facie evidence of ownership of the brand, and the fact of any boom chains being branded with a registered brand is taken as prima facie evidence of ownership of the brand. A penalty is imposed for branding with a registered brand a registered brand and for mutilating or defacing brands.

Indians Have Claims

Hon. Mr. Pattullo also introduced the Indian Water Claims Act, 1921. It provides for placing under the jurisdiction of the Board of Investigation constituted under the Water Act the claims of the Indians to take water from certain streams for the irrigation of certain reserves in the Dry Belt. The powers given the Board under the provisions of the Water Act, 1914, did not include authority to hear and adjudicate upon these claims, and although the applications upon which the claims are based were made over thirty years ago and the water applied for has in most cases been used by the Indians for that period, the claims have never been formally disposed of. There are twenty-three reserves affected, all of which are outside the forty-mile belt joining the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. They include reserves in the Vernon, Nicola, Fairview and Princeton Water Districts. The determination by the board of these claims will remove the uncertainty that has long prevailed respecting the water rights held by settlers residing in the vicinity of the reserves affected, and both Dominion and Provincial authorities anticipate that the settlement of them will be conducive to better relations between the Indians and their white neighbors.

In moving the second reading of the bill to amend the Health Act, Hon. Dr. MacLean stated that there had been a question as to the powers of medical health officers in connection with the examination of persons suspected of contagious disease. Mr. Bower thought that the House should be given more information on the bill. The section was too drastic and was giving very large powers to health officers to enter private homes. The man of the house never asked for such an examination, claimed the Opposition leader, who went on to state that the worst part of the measure is that the household is charged with half the cost of such examination, and the other half is levied on the poor afflicted municipalities. He could not see the necessity for the amendment, which was most arrogant and autocratic, such examination as X-ray and of blood being a matter for experts, who required high fees.

Dr. Rutherford adjourned the debate. In regard to the amendment to the Companies' Act, 1921, introduced by the Attorney-General in the Legislature last night, Mr. Pooley (Esquimalt) advocated that an agent must produce a certificate showing that a company is in good standing, and should be certified by the registrar of companies as being financially solid. This, he suggested, would tend to hold the "wild-cat" gentlemen.

VANITY FAIR
Novelty Christmas Gift Shop Was Opened Yesterday on View Street

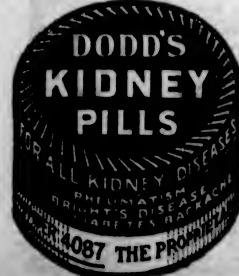

The doors of Vanity Fair opened yesterday to the public for the remainder of the month at 421 View Street, opposite the Central Building, and here will be displayed the most fascinating novelties for Christmas gifts, and the daintiest lingerie, boudoir caps, baby clothes and negligees. A great deal of interest has been evinced in Vanity Fair, which is under the management of two well-known ladies, Mrs. Durand and Miss Tottle Day, and the charming wares which will be exhibited in the window will, without doubt, entice the passer-by to make a closer observation of the interior of the Fair, which is only in existence for the Christmas season, and will close in a month's time.

Orders for the many pretty articles may be left with the house, and the ladies have made a specialty of unusual and novel samples. Boxes of various designs, ornamented powder boxes, original "telephone girls," silk couchbags, and lamps of exquisite shades form part of the very charming display, which is well worth a visit from prospective Christmas-gift purchasers.

NANAIMO CANDIDATE SPEAKS AT SOOKE

Supported on Platform by Mr. Smith-Curtis, Makes Sweeping Charges Against Government Led by Mr. Meighen

Notwithstanding the downpour of rain on Saturday evening, November 24, a large number of people gathered at the Sooke Hall to hear the candidate for the Liberal party, Thomas B. Booth, of Nanaimo.

It is strange that on Saturday evening the chair was taken by a Bournemouth, Mr. Anthony Kohout, and that no local Liberal of British descent, or British-born, could be found to act for Mr. Booth in this capacity, though there is absolutely no reflection upon Mr. Kohout, rather the reverse. Mr. Kohout, in introducing Mr. Smith-Curtis, who came in support of Mr. Booth, paid a few words of tribute and personal admiration for the Progressive Farmers' Party, but did not wish to take up time that evening which was allotted to Mr. Smith-Curtis and the candidate for the Liberal Party in the Nanaimo electoral district. He stated that the people of Sooke had always given a hearing to people of all political parties, and he hoped that they would give Mr. W. A. Pritchard, the Socialist candidate, a good hearing next Wednesday. He then said: "Our cities are full of hungry, starving people, and the country is fast going to the dogs."

Mr. Smith-Curtis, rising to address the meeting, said: "It is certainly a pleasure to me, in such weather, to find so many have turned out tonight, and it is certainly a compliment to Mr. Booth." He stated that the principles upon which the election was being fought were: On the one hand the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, appealing as Premier of Canada on his one and only issue, the tariff, and on the other Mr. Mackenzie King, a young man who had made a life study of social questions and the social ills, and his solution to remedy the evils of the present time. There was also, he said, Mr. Cregar, the leader of the Progressive Farmers' movement, with his policy of free trade. Mr. Smith-Curtis then paid a personal tribute to both Mr. Meighen and Mr. Mackenzie King, saying: "Both the gentlemen of very high and exemplary character."

Mr. Booth's Charges
Mr. Thomas B. Booth then addressed the gathering, calling attention to the size, divisions and importance of the Nanaimo riding. Mr. Pritchard, he said, will not stand any chance of being elected. The real contest is between Mr. Dickie and myself. Mr. Dickie has asked the people several places not to consider himself, but to think of Premier Meighen, whose party he represented. "This is just what I propose to do tonight, and I will deal with the record of the Meighen Government," said Mr. Booth. Mr. Horden saw his ship sinking. Mr. Meighen was then called upon to save the Government. He refused to call a general election before a redistribution bill had been enacted, but he changed his mind. What induced him to change his mind? The greatest reason was the census figures, which showed that the population of the manufacturing cities was rapidly decreasing in every section and that the rural population was correspondingly increasing. Mr. Meighen knew what he was about, and did not want to face a house with a greater representation. The Borden Government entered upon a wild railroad scheme. In 1918 the Government took over the Canadian National Railroad. We do not know the exact cost of the railroad to the country, but we do know that there is a deficit now of 100 millions of dollars. Mr. Booth dwelt at length upon what he deemed had been a waste of public money in many directions, and stated that the pockets of the Government supporters, Dillies, Gollywogs, French Flowers, Arts and Photographic Shop, Union Bank Building.

HE HAD APPETITE BUT COULDN'T EAT

Bishop Regains Health by Taking Tanlac—Can Work All Day Now and Feels Just Fine.

"I am mighty glad to see you are still selling my good old standby, Tanlac," said L. C. Bishop, a well-known farmer of Preston, Wash., when he called at a drug store in Spokane for two more bottles. "That's the medicine that put me in such fine shape last Spring, and I am going to take another course of it now, for I know so well what it will do."

"At the beginning of last Spring I found myself in a bad run-down condition, had no appetite, couldn't sleep, and never felt right. We had a lot of good things to eat on the farm, but I would just go to the table, force down a few mouthfuls and then get up and leave. I had very little strength or energy and got to where I was afraid I wouldn't be able to work any more."

"Two bottles of Tanlac put me in splendid condition, brought back my appetite, fixed up my stomach and made all the difference in the world in my feelings. It just seemed to give me new strength and energy and I could work hard on the farm from sunup to sundown and feel good all the time. My experience then convinced me that Tanlac is just the medicine to keep a man built up and feeling like something."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by Owl Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

will you find the prosperity stated to exist by the Conservative party? Where are the records to show you that this Government has run this country on business lines?"

Dealing with the Oriental question, Mr. Booth said: "We find $4,000 Oriental in British Columbia today. One out of every eight of the population—competing against the farmer, the business man and the fisherman!"

Referring again to the fishing industry upon this coast, he said: "If I am elected on December 6 no license for fishing will be granted to any man unless he is a bona fide fisherman." Instances the abuse now made in the issuing of licenses to tradesmen and others, who sold these licenses. In closing his address, he made an earnest appeal to the people to give him their support at the polls.

The chairman then called upon Mr. A. Heiseen to move a vote of confidence, which was seconded by Mr. Lundie.

Mr. Alex. Campbell hereupon stood and asked Mr. Booth if the Government he had been criticizing so much was not that Union Government, a 50-50 government of Liberals and Conservatives, which had been elected during the war, when he himself voted for the Liberal candidate, Mr. J. C. McIntosh?

"Yes, I do," replied Mr. Campbell: "It is the Union Government elected by the people in 1917 as a win-the-war Government, and was as much Liberal as it was Conservative, as it was not a party government at all." He then sang a song, and then the superintendence of Mr. A. M. Dobson. This was followed by an enjoyable dance, which terminated at midnight.

WANT FOOTBALL BODY FOR WESTERN CANADA

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—The Manitoba Football Association, at its semi-annual meeting held here Saturday, instructed its secretary to write the secretaries of other Western provincial associations to get their views on the question of forming a Western Canada Football Association.

According to the plan debated, Manitoba desires that the West play its own Connaught Cup series, the winner meeting the team produced by a similar elimination series in the East. The scheme does not in any way involve a breach with the D.F.A., but is devised in order to put the Dominion Championship series on a self-supporting basis. At present it is an annual liability, it was stated.

MITCHELL AND SMITH BARRED IN MONTREAL

Broke Contract for Canadian Middleweight Championship Bout—Show at Madison Square Garden Instead

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—Mike Mitchell, New York, and Jeff Smith, Bayonne, N. J., middleweight boxers, have been barred from again taking part in fights in Montreal by Chief of Police Belanger, boxing commissioner of this city, because they have broken a contract made with Thomas Conway, a local promoter, to appear here on December 12 in a contest for the middleweight championship of Canada. The two men have signed articles to fight at Madison Square Garden, New York, next Thursday. Conway, in addition to getting a ban placed on Mitchell and Smith here, promises to attach a part of the fight's purse in New York as damages.

GREENLEAF TO DEFEND TITLE AGAINST WOODS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Ralph Greenleaf, who won the world's pocket billiard championship for the third successive time in the recent tournament in Philadelphia, will defend his title in a challenge match here December 21, 22 and 23, against Arthur Woods, of Minneapolis. The match will consist of three blocks of 150 points each.

Tom Andrews, local promoter, announced today. Leonard is guaranteed $15,000 with the privilege of a percentage, and Mitchell $5,000. The bout will be at catchweights.

GOYNE'S BODY FOUND

Deer Derby Race and Team Plunged Into Lake and Were Frozen Over

THE PAR. Man., Nov. 28.—The body of Walter Goynes, the famous American dog derby racer, who was drowned with his team of nine dogs in Moose Lake, November 13, has been found. Search parties had been scouring the lake for days, looking through the transparent ice, and within 22 feet of the shore the body was discovered lying upright on the ice, partly covered by a heavy reed with the nine racing dogs stretched out in a line in eight feet of water. The police who investigated the accident believe that Goynes was going at top speed for the shore to escape this ice when he pitched headlong through and under the heavier ice, where escape was impossible.

New Hockey Rules Are Adopted in the East

NEW HOCKEY RULES ADOPTED IN EAST

Frank Calder Is Again N. H. A. President—The Proposed Amendments Ratified—Gordon Roberts Joins Ottawa

MONTREAL, Nov. 27.—After an all-day session today, the National Hockey Association wound up its annual meeting with the unanimous resolution as president of Frank Calder, of this city, and decided that the annual race for the hockey championship honors should commence Saturday night, December 17, and continue until March 15.

Amendments to the playing rules as proposed by Ottawa and seconded by Toronto, at the meeting held there a fortnight ago, were all ratified. They call for a schedule of 48 games with the play-off between the two teams which finish first and second. This play-off is to be decided by a home-and-home series in which the majority of goals will count.

Amendments to the penalty rules were also carried whereby all offenders must serve their time on the penalty bench while their teams play without their service. Minor penalty is five minutes, major five, and double major ten. Match fouls are for the balance of the game, with the stipulation that the offending player at the expiration of twenty minutes. In no case will a player who disables an opponent be allowed to resume until the injured player returns to the game.

The pass-out from the goalkeeper to the first red line—40 feet—was also adopted.

Newly Lalonde was announced as the captain of the Canadiens; Reg. Noble will lead Toronto, and Eddie Gerard will command Ottawa.

In the afternoon there was considerable dispute in connection with Sprague Cleghorn, who was finally transferred to Canadian, while Mummery and Arbour went to Hamilton. The Ottawa club announced that it had added to its roster Gordon Roberts, who played at the Coast until last year.

Canada whether they belong to the G. W. V. A. or not?

"4. Is it true that the funds in question are being used to pay the organization expenses of the G. W. V. A. the upkeep of the Veterans Monthly, and the expenses of delegates to the recent convention?"

"5. Is it true the salaries of the president and secretary of the G. W. V. A. and other officials are paid from these funds, which the Government should have held in trust for all ex-servicemen in Canada until such time as these men were consulted with regard to their ultimate disposal?"

"6. Would it not have been better to employ such money in an attempt to alleviate distress and unemployment amongst our comrades rather than to spread through the Canadian press malicious insinuations of disloyalty against our most respected public men?"

"CHARLES G. POWER, Quebec Delegate G. W. V. A. Convention."

"Mr. Menell's Reply

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—C. G. Macnell, general secretary of the G. W. V. A., tonight made the following statement regarding the questionnaire sent from Major C. G. Power, Liberal candidate and ex-member for the Federal constituency of South Quebec:

"I have not yet received the telegram attributed to Major Power, of Quebec. A complete statement with regard to the canteen funds was recently published by the canteen fund disposal board, upon which the organization of ex-servicemen were represented. All the facts in this respect are on public record and easily accessible to Major Power.

"As to the internal affairs of this association, I will simply refer Major Power to the proceedings and audit statement of the recent G. W. V. A. convention, of which he was a member, and from which I received my instructions. There has been no attempt to frustrate any effort on the part of Major Power to secure information in the usual way. It is a matter of regret that he is now in disagreement with the association's policy on this question. Furthermore, there is ample evidence to show there has been no violation of the non-partisan policy of the organization. Some daylight on that which has become more than a mere rumor has done no harm to anyone."

MANITOBA ISSUES SOME AMATEUR CARDS

Alberta Officials Laugh at the Job Performed on "Tourist"

WINNIPEG, Nov. 28.—The Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association re-organized and prepared for another banner season at the annual meeting held here. W. R. Seasmith, Portage la Prairie, was selected president, and Dr. McEldermott, Brandon, and as a result of the election of officers, the country delegates hold the power in the voting. The association was practically unanimous in passing transfer cards of Messrs. Hill, Tracer and Armstrong, who played for the Brandon team last year, and who are now resident at Fort William. Harry Oliver, Selkirk, who performed for Calgary in the Alberta Big Four, was also granted a card. The cards for Billy Horland and Jimmy Olson, who have changed their residence from Winnipeg to Brandon since the last hockey season, were also granted. The association was never in such a sound condition in regard to league and the secretary reported that many new organizations had joined. Junior and intermediate hockey was branching out to such an extent throughout the Province that the Association soon hoped to rival the O. H. A. in interest. Joke to Albertans

CALGARY, Nov. 28.—Officials of the Alberta Big Four Hockey League of last season, when informed that the Manitoba Hockey Association had granted amateur cards to "tourists" including Harry Oliver, of last year's Calgary Canadians, remarked that it was the biggest joke in the annals of hockey.

One official of the Canadian club stated that Oliver had received in the neighborhood of $1,500 for his hockey playing last year, and he was prepared to back up his statement. It was Manitoba that suspended Oliver last winter because he jumped to Calgary, and it was Manitoba that blocked the champions of the Big Four from competing in the Allan Cup games, and now they present themselves in their true light by granting Oliver and other "tourists" a transfer card.

GARRISON SOCCER

In a somewhat slow soccer match played at Work Point yesterday, the Garrison Artillery to a draw of three goals all. The game was minus the thrills that usually are common at these games on account of the weather conditions, the field bearing the appearance of a marsh.

The play was fairly even, with the Artillery having the slight edge on their opponents. This is the first time the Garrison have come anywhere near winning a game, but, judging by the display they gave yesterday, they are quite capable to cause the top dogs some trouble. The game was handled in a satisfactory manner by referees Bill Faulkner. The league standing up to and, including yesterday's game is as follows:

	P. W. L. D. Pts.
Departmental Corps.	5 2 1 1 7
Princess Patricia	4 3 1 0 6
Artillery	5 1 2 2 4
Mackenzie Gunners	4 0 3 1 1

ZBYSKO DEFENDS TITLE AGAINST LEWIS

Mat Veteran Now Has Won
Nearly Thousand Bout—
He Has—Only One Defeat
Against Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Stanislaus Zbysko, of Poland, successfully defended the world's heavyweight wrestling championship at Madison Square Garden tonight, defeating Ed (Strangler) Lewis, of Lexington, Ky. Zbysko won two out of three falls. Lewis obtained the first fall with a flying headlock, after 17 minutes, 21 seconds. The second, a so-called rolling fall, 26 seconds. This fall was called when Lewis, in escaping from a half-nelson and crotch hold, permitted his shoulders to strike the mat. Lewis protested the referee's decision and left the ring, but was induced by the State Athletic Commission to continue.

The champion won the third fall and match with a double arm lock in 14 minutes, 16 seconds.

The referee's decision in giving Zbysko the second fall was loudly jeered by a large body of spectators. Tonight's victory was the ninth hundred and fourth for the champion in his twenty-three years of professional competition. He was defeated only once, the late Frank Gotch vanquishing him in a match that lasted but six seconds.

ICE HOCKEY GOING STRONG IN INTERIOR

Mr. Percy Watson, president of the Provincial Amateur Hockey Association, states that a great deal of interest is being shown in the ice sport this year in interior points. Communications have been received from the Boundary and Okanagan districts, which would indicate that the game is more than holding its own in those districts, and it is expected that the organizations of the interior points will affiliate with the Provincial body.

trouble in having their wishes gratified.

It is in the furnishing and arrangement of her interior that the super-excellence of the new steamer is most apparent. The cabin is a masterpiece, faced with the comfort and luxury of the other ships of the Canadian Pacific Coast fleet. Yet these splendid passenger ships, which have acquired a fleet an unrivalled position in the estimation of the travelling public, must take second place in splendour to the latest addition to their numbers. There has been small realization here that the work of British builders, world leaders since first were built, could be matched on this trip today. Irrefutable testimony to the fact that as good as the best in ships can be turned out in this Province.

There are no inside rooms on the Princess Louise. The cabin accommodation is arranged on the Bibby deck, every room outside ventilation. The apartments are of various sizes, most of them containing two berths, double and single, and a bed sofa.

There are six special suites in all. They are placed in pairs, with bath and alcove, the alcove adding room and furnishing an extra berth if desired. These cabins are very luxuriously furnished, with full-length mirrors as well as smaller ones over the dressing tables. Two are paneled in silk tapestry, the others being done in birdseye maple and figured walnut.

The Concert Hall
Aft on the awning deck is the social hall, done in mahogany, extending from one side of the ship to the other, with light and air from the well overhead, and large double doors on each side. This spacious area was designed as the scene of concerts and to provide the maximum of space as a sitting-room.

From the social hall a stairway leads down to the dining-room, finished in light oak, with oak chairs and leather spring seats. The seating capacity is 137. At one end is a handsome built-in buffet. Shaded by the ceiling, with special glass globes, overhead. The ports are large, in palm, and of a swivel arrangement for purposes of ventilation.

The observation room on the promenade deck is about the size of that of the Alice. It has thick glass panes, that a stairway leads above to the library, which is superimposed. The latter room is really another observation room, and is even more commodious than the one below.

Both rooms are in mahogany. The observation room is a considerable work to do on the Louise yet. The furniture has barely been begun. The fixtures are all in place, but all the upholstery is to be done in the future. It will be several weeks before the vessel is ready to go into operation.

SALE OF WORK

The Ladies' Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held its annual sale on Saturday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall, and it proved a decided success, about $270 being cleared to add to their treasury. All afternoon, despite the downpour, the hall was thronged and the offerings of the various stalls were readily taken up. During the tea hour musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Robertson, at the piano; and Mrs. Manly, at the violin. The tea tables were most attractively and artistically arranged, each table being covered with bright red tulips and Autumn-tinted Oregon grape leaves, with a dainty green trailing vine. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. W. Marshall read the tea committee, and they had as their assistants Mrs. T. Pitt, Mrs. M. C. Macmillan, Mrs. Cowie and Miss Livingston, while the following ladies acted as waitresses: Misses L. Radkin, Miss Cowie, Miss Rowa, Miss Johnson and Miss Christie.

Mrs. C. H. Dickie, Mrs. Currie G. White and Mrs. H. W. Dickie presided over the miscellaneous and fancy-work stall. The sale of plants and cut flowers was under the able supervision of Mrs. Coburn, and Mrs. Peterson, while the cooked food stall was in charge of Mrs. W. Peterson and Mrs. M. Bell. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. P. Campbell convoked the sale of aprons. Miss Harriet Bell, Mrs. Hattie were in charge of the candy stall, and in Miss Dorothy Macmillan, Miss Margaret Thomson and Miss Gracie Hattie they had most able assistants.

The Young Women's Missionary Circle had a most attractive offering in charge of Miss Burkmaster and the Odd Fellows' Hall, and it proved a decided success. On the "odds and ends" stall, convoked by Mrs. A. F. Munro and Mrs. A. W. Johnson, one found a great variety of tempting articles. Mrs. J. H. Peterson was very popular with a large fruit cake, beautifully made, and donated by Mrs. M. Bell, which went to the one guessing correct weight. This was won by J. Fletcher, others being Mrs. C. W. O'Neill, George Henderson, Eric Fox, Miss Edridge and Mrs. Coburn. The correct weight was six pounds and 13 ounces. Mrs. C. W. O'Neill won the box of candy, which contained seventy-five candies. Mrs. J. Anderson acted as cashier for the afternoon teas. To Mrs. A. H. Peterson, president of the Guild, who acted as supervisor of the general arrangements and those who ably assisted, much credit is due.

OPPOSITION SEEKS TO HOLD LEGISLATURE

Claim Breach of Agreement
Arrived at Last Week and
Now Will Hold Members
Until After Federal Contest

Present indications are that the Legislature will not prorogue tomorrow. That was the original intention, based upon an arrangement arrived at between the Premier and the opposition leader, and members of the House were preparing to depart for their several constituencies to put in a few days in active political work in the Federal election.

Everything was arranged on Saturday for the prorogation, but the Mackenzie motion that a best clause be considered upset the arrangement. The agreement reached between Premier Oliver and Mr. Bowser was based on the understanding that no new legislation would be brought down other than that discussed. Now, however, that the best clause has been coupled with other legislation that the Government seeks to advance, the Opposition takes the stand that its agreement is off and that the House will remain in session until after the Federal election.

This attitude was apparent yesterday afternoon, when the House resumed its sessions following the week-end. The estimates of expenditure for the coming fiscal year were under consideration, and the Opposition criticism of every single item which came up made it clear that a "filibuster" was in operation. But three items were passed in the entire afternoon.

A Struggle
Government forces insist they will get through on Wednesday; they threaten a twenty-four hour day to accomplish that end. Just how far they can succeed in making good their threat is a question, in view of the narrow Government majority over the Conservative and Independent votes.

Immediately on assembling the House went into committee of supply. The vote of $6,990 under the Moving Picture Act for the department recently under the control of Dr. Baker led to quite a discussion when Mr. R. H. Pooley, Esquimalt, moved that it be struck out. There was practically no work being done in this department, and the staff were merely drawing their salaries each month, he said. The clerk in the office was the son of Agent-General Wade, and he simply appeared at the office on pay days. Mr. Pooley's charge, Mr. Pooley declared.

Hon. Mr. Farris denied that the vote was entirely for salaries. The House was to be paid for the day, and the Government was showing no desire to squander money. He claimed that this was the time, when the Province was in financial difficulties, to advertise.

If the Attorney-General had announced that Dr. Baker had gone, Mr. Pooley would have been members should make doubly sure of the fact by eliminating the department. He disagreed with Hon. Mr. Farris, who thought this was the time to advertise. The best way of improving the present financial condition was to economize.

The appropriation carried by a vote of 22 to 17.

Charge Waste
Further discussion on the $35,000 vote for destruction of wild animals through a remark from Mr. Perry with reference to Dr. Baker's resignation, the member for George Bay said he would like the Attorney-General to make the matter clear.

Hon. Mr. Farris said he would be very glad to do so, and explained that Dr. Baker had referred to a letter from Dr. Baker he had read in the House. In that letter, as well as in conversation with Dr. Baker, the latter had indicated his desire to resign from the service.

Mr. Pooley then asked whether they were to understand that Dr. Baker had not resigned but had been temporarily suspended from his duties during the investigation; in reply to which the Attorney-General repeated his previous remark, adding that the policy of the Government would be to place the administration of the department under the supervision of the superintendent of Provincial police.

Mr. Pooley: "Is Dr. Baker suspended in the meantime?"
Hon. Mr. Farris: "Yes."

Wants Details
Mr. J. W. Jones (South Okanagan) considered the vote should be set out in greater detail; there should be some information as to the persons employed by the Game Board.

Mr. Pooley: "The vote had pointed to the fact that the vote had been $15,000 from last year. Personally he was unable to give details of what the reductions would be, though he agreed that in another year greater details should be given."

Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society Stages Triple Bill at Reopening of Popular Oak Bay House

The Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society is staging a triple bill at the Little Theatre, Oak Bay, tonight, tomorrow night and December 1 and 2, under the auspices of the James Bay Athletic Association.

The actors are kindly giving their services and all funds raised are to be used by the J.B.A.A. to buy new boats and equipment—a worthy cause—the club being in a badly run-down condition, due to the fact that almost all its active members were engaged for overseas service for four years.

The Little Theatre, this time, is imitating its prototype in New York and London by staging three playlets, two of them under the direction of Major F. E. Pridoux, and one under the direction of Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, and written by himself, "Dream Faces," the first of the playlets under Major Pridoux, was played with great success by Forbes Robertson in London some time ago, and the play should lose nothing in the hands of Major Pridoux. Mrs. Bellby, Miss Agnes Stuart-Robertson, and Mr. Billy Bredin.

The second, entitled "My Lord in Livery," is a farce which is sure to please everyone, and in this play again, the club has secured the best talent available, the leading lady in this case being the inimitable Bobbie Stephens, whose character parts are so well known to Victoria audiences. The other female parts are being taken by Miss Niole Cutler, and Miss Vivian Combe, and the male by Major Pridoux, Mr. Lemm, Capt. Hugh Allan, and Master Fox, all of whom have played several times before Victoria audiences.

Mr. Fairbairn's play, "The Conversion of Red Morpeth," is a Western drama written entirely by himself, and when played before some of the members of the V.D.O.S., was pronounced by them the most finished sketch produced at their fortnightly meetings.

The three plays have been chosen with the utmost care, not only as to content, but with a view to giving an entertainment which is sure to please. It would be difficult to conceive three plays of a more varied character, and an audience cannot be assured that no efforts will be spared to give them a good run for their money.

CAPITOL What promises to prove THEATRE one of the reigning sensations of the current season, "The Sheik," a remarkable Paramount picture, produced by George Melford, was shown with unusual success at the Capitol Theatre last night. The playlet is a pictorialization of E. M. Hull's remarkable novel of the Saharan desert, which is now numbered as one of the best sellers in the literary market. The role of the Arabian tribal chief, Ishak, Ahmed Ben Hassan, is portrayed by Rudolph Valentino, the handsome young actor who sprang into instant popularity by his work in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." He is a romantic actor, and makes a perfect picture as the colorful warrior-lover of the desert, while Agnes Ayres, the newly created Paramount star, plays the featured lead—the haughty English girl who is captured by the Sheik and forced to do his bidding. The story tells of the strange love between these two characters and the many vicissitudes which are undergone before a perfect understanding is finally established between them. Adolphe Menjou, Lucien Littlefield, George Wagner, Ruth Miller, Walter Long and F. B. Butler complete the cast. It is a remarkable picture. Miss Mildred Lewis, dramatic soprano, who has met with a flattering reception in other Pacific Coast cities, is heard in several popular song selections. Mr. Handley Wells, basso, in a stirring rendering of "Till the Bands of the Desert Grow Cold," captivates the audience from the very start. His fine basso-baritone voice is shown off to excellent example in this number.

DOMINION There are many interesting viewpoints in the domestic relations of man and wife, but one of the strangest is provided in "Under the Lash," the new Paramount picture starring Gloria Swanson, which scored a hit at the Dominion Theatre yesterday. Miss Swanson plays the beautiful Thelma, wife of a wealthy, aged Boer farmer of the South Africanveldt, married to him by her relatives who wished to be rid of her. While leaving his wife in his own way, Kriliet, the Boer, forces her to wait upon him as a slave. This unusual story unfolds some highly dramatic complications, brimming over with love interest and melodramatic action when Kriliet brings a young Englishman home with him to learn farming.

The young wife falls in love with him and he with her, and the drama reaches a high tension when the old farmer discovers evidence of their intrigue. Russell Simpson, noted character artist, plays Kriliet, while the young Englishman is portrayed by Mahlon Hamilton. Others in the cast who did good work are Lillian Leighton, Lincoln Readman, Thelma Jasper and Clarence Ford.

VARIETY The first Jewel Production featuring Dorothy Phillips since that memorable photoplay, "Destiny," will be shown at the Variety Theatre again today. The new picture has been entitled "Paid in Advance" and is a story of the fur region of Canada and the Klondike. Phillips, the mad girl, rush in the Yukon. Allen J. Holubar, who was also director, during the production, adapted to screen purposes a notable story by James Oliver Curwood, which tells of the struggle of Joan Gray, depicted by Miss Phillips, to stay straight after she has been lured to Dawson City, in the Yukon, by Gold Dust Barker, keeper of a Klondike saloon and gambling hell.

ROYAL The scene in "Earthbound," Basil King's new film story, in which one man pays the penalty for his affair with another man's wife, is a bit of dramatic acting which, in tragic intensity, has seldom been equalled on stage or screen. "Earthbound" will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre today. Even General Pershing, when he was shown through the Goldwyn studio the day the scene was taken, was startled by its realism, and praised the work of the participants in the highest terms. Nicholas Benobronski, played by Wyndham Standing, had betrayed the confidence of his old friend, Jim Rittenhaw (Mahlon Hamilton). The two men meet half way up the long stairway in the prominent club of which both are members, and Rittenhaw shoots on sight. The shots bring to their feet the startled men in the various rooms of the club, bringing them to the lobby to stare fascinated at the victim, bewildered, dying, as he stands there, facing the one-time friend who shot him. Then, straight backward he falls, as a log would topple, and rolls to the floor below. There is no crumpling, but a sickening, unbending crash to the steps. Drama, pathos, tragedy are in this scene. It is but one episode in a story which throughout stirs human emotion to the depths. "Earthbound" was filmed under the direction of T. Hayes Hunter.

What was the answer from the other side?

BASIL KING'S

Powerful Drama of the Unseen World

"EARTHBOUND"

Four lives bound together by a common creed — "No God — no Sin — no Future Life."

Two men and two women torn by the conflict between loyalty and passion.

Then inevitable disaster—and for one of them a headlong plunge to death.

Is the soul swept from earth the moment it is freed from the body? Or does it—earthbound—still share the violent emotions which the living must endure?

Does the personality change with death—how long do the old interests go on?

Is there growth and progression even after the shadowy barrier has been crossed?

Basil King's "Earthbound" is a gripping story of personalities reaching back and forth across this barrier.

It is a subject to which Basil King has devoted years of intense personal study. He brings to this great narrative an intimate knowledge of men and women, of their wants and emotional experiences.

"Earthbound" is a remarkable lifting of the veil that stands between this life and the next—a motion picture endowed with a power and human poignancy that can be found in no other form of art.

The year that it has taken in creation began a new era for the screen.

OLIVER ECKHARDT

WINS MUCH APPLAUSE

A Bachelor's Romance Is Play Shown at Princess Theatre, and Received With Great Ovation

Mr. Oliver Eckhardt, who takes the leading role in the play now running at the Princess Theatre, "A Bachelor's Romance," finds plenty of scope in the part of David Holmes, literary critic on The Review, to manifest his very excellent abilities as a character actor, and from start to finish of the play Mr. Eckhardt is the centre of the audience's sympathy and appreciation. A new comer to this city, Mr. Eckhardt has rapidly won his way into the appreciation of his audiences, and the hearty ovation accorded this actor at last night's performance was an illustration of this. The prolonged applause necessitated the appearance of Mr. Eckhardt after the third scene, when he came before the curtain and explained the standard which all he depicted throughout the season by the Cover Eckhardt Players.

"A Bachelor's Romance" is a play which is reminiscent of that popular piece, "Fuddy Du Du," and is full of amusing incidents and a touch of sentiment on which the story hinges. The players at the Princess are very happily suited to their respective parts, and last night's offering is one of the best ever shown at the theatre.

Miss Nina Gilbert, who plays the leading lady's part, Miss Sylvia Somers, David's ward, is charming in her portrayal of a simple "country mouse" who wants a quiet home, with friends, a few books—and things, and someone to keep house for. Picturesque, naive, and altogether delightful, Miss Gilbert plays her part with exceptional grace. The other parts taken by Miss Wanda Deane, as Miss Clementina, a maiden lady with a sharp tongue; Miss Eunice Richards, as Helen Le Grand, David's sister, a widow of the world, and Miss Lily Doolley, as Harriet Leicester, a society girl, are all excellent.

Mr. Tom Sullivan has a part which is eminently suited to his acting, and as Martin Regis, David's secretary and confidential man, is at his best, and Mr. Mulberry, a literary man with a classical education, which he cannot turn into money, as played by Mr. Arthur Elton, is another example of good histrionic talent. Mr. James Coots takes the part of a pleasure-loving young man about town, Gerald Holmes, David's younger brother, and acts with his usual skill, while Mr. Leland Jaxon as Harry Reynolds, and Mr. Shirley McDonnell, as "Savage," a modern literary man, round out an exceptionally fine cast.

The play will be repeated tonight and for the remainder of the week, and is without doubt a performance well worthy of capacity houses.

MARY PICKFORD'S
PORTRAIT DRAWING
CONTEST AWARDS

The climax to the popular drawing competition at the Variety Theatre came Saturday afternoon, when Judges L. M. Mills, W. Menelaws and W. G. Lemm picked the three winners. In giving their decision they admitted they were greatly surprised at the wonderful exhibition of talent, which made it extremely hard to decide.

The first prize was awarded to G. T. Lee, a local high school boy of about fifteen years of age, who submitted a drawing that would do credit to any professional. The second and third prizes were awarded to H. O. Austin and R. Watt, respectively, who did exceptionally fine work. Those who were highly commended for their exhibits included S. Sobe, J. N. Glynn, Ethel Olive, Barbara Hulke, W. Farmer, Jr., Violet Welsh, W. D. Mills, W. J. Moore, Norma Pandey, Margaret Roemer, Cyril Tomlinson, C. Perimen, Lydia Morrow, W. B. McFadden, P. T. Thorne and Irene Allen.

In announcing the decision before a crowded house, the manager, Mr. Clark, expressed great surprise at the wonderful display of talent, and stated that if it were the wish of the hundred odd contestants he would send them to Miss Pickford, for her examination, before returning them to their respective owners.

Thousands of entertainment seekers taxed the capacities of the finest theatres in the Dominion last night to witness the premiere of a great photoplay.

In Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Calgary, Victoria and Vancouver, big, excited crowds—some of whom had never before enthused over a motion picture—joined in a paean of praise.

Never in the history of the amusement business in this country has there been such a remarkable demonstration of approval.

In a few brief hours the screen version of Edith M. Hull's sensational novel, with its wild-riding bandits, lovely women, desert days and desert ways, established a record that no other motion picture has even approached.

CHAPTER V.

Both girls stared as they saw him. Each of them sat in a wicker chair, their legs crossed, smoking.

Eleanor was the more restrained of the two. Although the entrance of her father was unexpected, and startling, she kept her seat and went on smoking. Peggy, however, started to her feet, her eyes flashed, and her lips quivered, as though she were preparing herself for a storm.

"Excuse me for intruding," said the Colonel quietly, "but I thought I would just let you know that I am not asleep."

Both of them were speechless. There was something in the quiet tones of his voice, something, too, in his very presence that made them afraid.

"I did not get home till eight o'clock," he went on, "and was naturally surprised not to find you here. I was still more surprised to know that your mother did not know where you were gone."

"She did not know, because we didn't think it best to tell her," replied Peggy, evidently ready for battle.

"I see," remarked the Colonel quietly. "May I ask why?"

"Because we thought she might tell you."

"Was there any objection to that?"

"There might be," was Peggy's curt reply.

"I see. You thought I might forbid you going."

There was a touch of anger in his voice which he could not repress. Peggy was quick to note this, and it gave her the courage to say what she and Eleanor had spoken about many times.

"It would have made no difference if you had."

"Indeed, is that so?" he replied quietly. "Anyhow, it gives one an idea how we stand."

He was on the point of saying more, when he looked at the child's angry, defiant eyes, and spoke of everything she was a pretty, attractive girl. It was true she was rather over-developed for one of her years, but still only a child to him. Almost unconsciously his mind flew back over the years, and he thought of her as she was when he had left England. His memory called up a laughing-eyed, untidy dressed, wilful but loving little maid, who found it difficult to enunciate her 's'. He remembered her as generous-hearted, too, difficult to deal with, certainly, but a tender-hearted little thing all the same.

He crushed back the words he was going to utter. He felt they would do no good, and would probably do harm. Perhaps neither of them had had a fair chance. He had been away several years, and they looked upon him as a stranger. He had been out of the world during those years, away from all the influences which had changed the thought and life of the country. He must make allowances; he must try to understand. On the other hand, however, Colonel Trelawney was a soldier and a disciplinarian. He had a pride of birth, too, and shrunk from everything that was out of accord with the traditions of his name. All the Trelawneys were far removed from the loud, vulgar type of creature whom at heart he despised, and he could not stand supinely by, while they besmirched his name.

"Children," he said quietly, "you and I will have to understand one another. Naturally, on coming back after so many years, I find things changed. But we Trelawneys have always been different from our women. We have idealized them somewhat. However, I need not speak about that now. I was much surprised to learn that in this first time you have gone out alone, and have returned in the early hours of the morning without getting your mother's consent. Also, you've been out without a proper chaperon. But we'll not discuss it tonight. I'm too distressed to speak as calmly as I ought, while you are not in the frame of mind to receive what I have to say. In the right spirit. All the same we shall have to come to an understanding, for I can assure you that this kind of thing must come to an end. Tomorrow we will discuss everything fully. Meanwhile it is best that you should know that I am trying to look at things from your point of view, and that although your old dad has been away so long, he loves you both very dearly. Good-night, or rather, good-morning. You'll want to go to bed."

He held the door open, and waited for them to pass through. He did not offer to kiss them; he did not think it best. He saw the hot, rebellious flash in Peggy's eyes, and noted the supercilious and slightly bored attitude which Eleanor had assumed.

When they had gone, the Colonel went back to his den, and sat for a long time in deep thought. He had never dreamt of such a position, and did not know what to do.

"Did you speak to them?" asked his wife when at length he went to his room.

He shook his head. "Nothing of importance," he replied. "I did not think it wise. I only told them we would have to come to an understanding later."

Meanwhile Eleanor and Peggy had gone to their rooms.

"You see we're in for it," said Peggy.

"Yes. Of course, I saw it would come. I summed him up the night he came home."

"I must confess, though, that he kept very calm. I am downright frightened when he came into the room. I thought there'd be a row."

"I expect there will before long."

"I don't know. I thought he took it very well."

"That's because you don't understand him. For my own part, I should have been easier in my mind if he had blustered, and threatened. But he's not that sort. He's one of those quiet, iron-willed men who are always hardest to deal with. All your pranks are over, my child."

"What do you mean?"

"You'll be as gentle as a cooling dove after he's been home a few weeks."

"Will it?" cried the child defiantly. "You'll see if he tries to come the stern parent over me. I tell you, I'll run away; I'll marry Jim."

"And make a fool of yourself."

"I don't care if I do."

Eleanor shrugged her shoulders. "Of course you'll do as you like; but I can see we're in for a storm."

The next morning the Colonel knocked at Eleanor's door. "It's ten o'clock he said pleasantly; 'You'll be late for church if you aren't quick.'"

The girl did not speak.

"Did you hear me?" said the Colonel in a louder voice.

"Yes, I heard you."

"That's right. You'll be down in a few minutes, then?"

"No, I'm tired. I don't propose getting up yet."

"I say, I am disappointed," said the Colonel. "I had looked forward to you going to church with me on my first Sunday home."

"No, thank you," replied Eleanor. "I don't propose going."

The Colonel hesitated, and seemed on the point of saying something more, but evidently decided to be silent. Then he made a movement as if to go to Peggy's room, but stopped.

There was a dangerous flash in his eyes as he went down-stairs, but he said nothing to his wife.

"Going to church, John?" he asked as the clock neared eleven.

"If you wish, Dad," replied the boy.

When the Colonel and John returned an hour and a half later the former was very quiet. The whole family gathered in the dining-room for lunch, and the Colonel talked pleasantly on commonplace topics. It might seem as though he had forgotten the previous night's conversation. The two girls, however, were watchful, and excited. They felt that the atmosphere was tense, while Mrs. Trelawney looked nervously from face to face as if constantly expecting an outbreak.

"Will you all come into 'The Treadmill,'" he said quietly. "I want a little talk with you."

"I hope it won't take long," remarked Peggy. "I have an engagement at three o'clock."

"I'm not quite sure how long our conversation will take," replied the Colonel. "It may be best for you to contemplate breaking your engagement whatever it may be."

Although Peggy sadly wanted to say something in defiance, there was a ring in her father's voice which restrained her. She instantly felt a force to which she was unaccustomed. She no longer had her mother to deal with, but a personality of a different order.

The Colonel did not speak for a few seconds after following them into the room. He quietly lit his pipe, and after lighting it sat back in his armchair.

"Girls," he said, "have you given up going to church?"

There was no reply.

He repeated the question.

"Yes," replied Eleanor, "at least, I have. Are you looking for your cigarette, Peg? Have one of mine, and she threw her a case."

"Are they the cause of it?" asked the Colonel, motioning to the cigarettes. "You never saw your mother use those things."

"Because I have no use for religion," replied Eleanor, coolly, ignoring his reference to their smoking.

"Ah, is that so? Then, may I ask why?"

"Really, father, I didn't expect to be asked to pass a theological examination. I have no use for religion because I can't see what use it is to me. I believe there are a few people, even yet, who find use for it. But that is their affair."

"You have none?"

"None. That is as religion is ordinarily understood."

"It's not quite fair to you," said the Colonel. "The religion I was brought up to believe in doesn't appear to me. It doesn't seem to hold water. I can't see the good of going to church. One is simply bored. Of course, I imagine most people have a religion of some sort; but again, that is their own affair. It's purely a personal matter."

"May I ask whether you've given up the ethics of the Christian religion?" asked the Colonel.

"Really, Father, I've never considered the matter. The world's ideas have grown during the last two thousand years, and I imagine if one needs a religion one will have to think the matter out on his own lines."

"That's very interesting. Then from what you say, I suppose you do not regard the Christian religion as having any authority over you?"

"I don't see why it should have."

"Eleanor, my dear, for shame! How can you say such things?" cried Mrs. Trelawney helplessly.

Although the girl was very pale, and her lips trembled somewhat, she retained remarkable control over herself. She extracted a cigarette from the case which Peggy had handed back to her, and lit it with fairly steady fingers.

"Why for shame, Mother?" she asked. "I suppose Father doesn't want me to tell him any lies. He has asked me questions, and I have tried to answer him to the best of my ability."

"Then the Commandments are, according to your point of view, obsolete, I suppose?" asked the Colonel, taking no notice of his wife's interruption.

"Perhaps yes, perhaps no. What particular commandment do you refer to?"

"Honor thy father and thy mother," was the Colonel's reply. "Don't you believe in that?"

"Not in the sense in which you regard it. It may be that one's father and mother do not deserve honoring."

"There is another Biblical precept, 'obey your parents.' Don't you believe in that?"

"Not necessarily. It may be all right for kiddies; but when one has grown up, one must use one's own judgment."

"I see," and the Colonel's voice became hard as he spoke. "Then we'll leave the abstract aspect of the question, and come to the personal. Do you regard it as your duty to obey me?"

Eleanor thought a few seconds before replying. Up to now, she felt that she was going through her catechism very well. She saw, too, by the triumphant flash in Peggy's eyes, that her sister thought she had carried her points triumphantly. But now she felt on less sure ground.

Try as she might against it there was something in her father's presence that awed her. Not so much because he was a strong, clear-headed man, but because he was her father. Had another man made any assumption of authority she would have strongly resented it, but she felt that for some inexplicable reason, her father was different. Still she would stand by her guns. As she had told her sister more than once, she felt that the tug-of-war was coming, and she thought she was ready for it.

"Not if your commands opposed my judgment, and hindered my freedom," was her answer.

"I see," replied the Colonel, "and I presume Peggy also has the same views."

"Yes, only a bit stronger," replied

Peggy, and the tone of her voice bordered on the insolent.

The Colonel gave a quick glance around the room, and saw his wife's anxious, almost horror-stricken look, noted, too, the eager interest in John's face. He felt that an important hour had come in the history of his family.

Women of Canada

Here is an appeal written specially for this advertisement by Arthur Meighen. Read it, think for yourselves, and go to the polls. Don't let it be said that Canadian women don't care — that Canadian women won't vote.

My Special Appeal To Women

To the Women of Canada, I make this special appeal. I ask you to earnestly and thoroughly study the great issues that now confront the country, and to conscientiously seek a personal decision, refusing steadfastly to be moved by reckless appeals, or by the cry of prejudice or by class appeal. I ask you to review my record and if you find my past and present stand on the great questions concerning the Dominion's National policies acceptable, I ask you not only to vote for my candidate in your constituency but to exert all possible influence on his behalf. The Government which extended the franchise to the Women of Canada invites you to help to build up that which was torn down by the War and to take your proper share of the responsibilities in shaping the destinies of your country.

I ask the Women of Canada to destroy definitely and forever the plans of those who, through selfish motives, attempt to unbalance the people of Canada and thus wreck the unity which made it possible for us to take such a valiant part in the great War.

I ask the Women of Canada to force that unity which will be abiding, which will result in permanent prosperity for all classes, and which will make Canada the envy of the world—that unity which is my one aim and ambition.

SOCIALIST SPEAKER EXPOUNDS THEORIES

There was only a small audience at the Columbia Theatre on Sunday, to hear Mr. Sid Earp, of Vancouver. In his opening remarks Mr. Earp made some references to election meetings he had attended in Vancouver, and stated that while there had been a good deal of spellbinding and gallery play, the problems confronting present-day society were not being faced by the candidates of the old parties. The working class were beginning to want some information as to the development and workings of our present social system, and progress could only be made by knowledge of the economic laws operating trade, and an intelligent understanding of the outcome of their operation. The financial and industrial magnates are the beneficiaries, and the working class the victims of this social system, world-wide in its operation, and which presented problems which could not be solved locally or even nationally. The law of necessity would compel a readjustment of economic relations. With the exploitation of labor the foundation of our present system, nothing but the baffling social problems which confront us can be expected. Until the class who today operate the machinery of production became the owners and received the benefits accruing from such ownership, no change from present-day conditions could be expected. The conditions preceding the downfall of the Roman Empire are being duplicated today. The concentration of wealth into fewer hands and at the other end of the social scale poverty, misery and insecurity were on the increase, and without a change in the economic foundations, present-day civilization would fail. The owners of the vast accumulated wealth of the world, and the machinery of production were powerless individually to improve conditions, even had they the desire, being held in the grip of the system as securely as the starving worker. To tinkering and reform the weak parts would not prevent the ultimate collapse, and the paramount question confronting society today was the socialization of the machinery of production and the organization of distribution so that all would share its benefits.

Several questions were asked and these were quickly answered by the speaker.

They always come to the dining-room just a little ahead of time, when Heinz Baked Beans are to be served—impatient but smiling.

Long baking in dry heat in real ovens has brought out the wonderful nut-like flavor of the bean and the tomato sauce for which Heinz is famous has done its part to make this the most appetizing national dish. National because in thousands of homes all over the country, Heinz Baked Beans have made and earned their reputation.

Your Assurance of Satisfaction

Just as other household necessities differ from one another in quality, so there is a difference between "Wear-Ever" and other aluminum utensils. It is important, therefore, if you wish your kitchen to be modern—that you be sure that your utensils bear the "Wear-Ever" trade mark. The sheet metal from which are made is thick, hard and enduring. Only after it has been passed again and again through gigantic rolling mills under tons and tons of pressure is it considered dense and hard enough for "Wear-Ever" utensils.

No joints and seams are found in "Wear-Ever"—the surface is smooth and clean with no lodging place for food particles. "Wear-Ever" utensils cannot rust—cannot flake—are pure and safe.

NORTHERN ALUMINUM COMPANY, LTD., Toronto, Ontario

B. Room acted as agent for the purchasers. During the course of numerous hearings in Chambers in this city during the past few weeks, Mr. Robertson has objected to the court orders for sale. Mr. Robertson said that the properties had been valued at $3,000,000; and that there was danger of their being sacrificed unless the sale was deferred and more widely advertised.

On behalf of his client, Mr. Broth-our said that $4,000 had been spent in advertising the sale, and that prospective purchasers were expected to be present from New York. The total liabilities of the bankrupt company were put at the sum of $2,700,000.

Mrs. Edward Kincaid, 60 Bryden St., John, N.B., writes: "I wish to say that I have been cured of my long-continued rheumatism by the use of your famous remedy Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and what good it did me. I suffered for years with the rheumatism. I never had, my head and nostrils were so clogged up I could get no vent. I was unable to walk and my breathing was so bad that I could not get any remedy after remedy until at last I thought I would try your remedy. I got that bottle and I felt relief and the time the bottle was finished I was well again. I will always keep it and use it."—

THREE PEOPLE PERISH IN BURNING THEATRE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—Three lives were lost and several persons were more or less seriously injured when fire broke out at the Rialto Theatre here last night. It is possible that further searching the ruins of the theatre will add to the list of victims.

spendid results were found in "Catsarrhose." I have been in a "Catsarrhose" for nearly two months. Troubled and Catearrh. On damp days I would hawk and suffer great distress in my throat. I used all kinds of remedies, but they did not give me relief till I used Catsarrhose. It strengthened my throat, stopped my cough and made me feel like a new person. I tell you myself; see what wonders it works on a bad throat, or cold, catarrh, bronchitis. Different from the old way of breathing. I breathe Catsarrhose. Get the dollar outfit, which includes the inhaler and lasts two months. Write for the free literature. The Catsarrhose Co., Montreal.
